LONDON, Nov. 28.—Reuters agency today quoted the Moscow official radio as saying the Soviets denounced the non-aggression pact with Finland.

MOSCOW, Nov. 28.—Standing firm against mighty Russia, Finland's government today declined point-blank to entertain the Russian demand for a unilateral withdrawal of Finnish troops from the Soviet-Finnish border.

In a note delivered to Soviet Premier-Foreign Commissar V. M. Molotov early this morning by the Finnish minister, Baron Arno Armas Yrjö Koskinen, Finland agreed, however, to discuss withdrawal of both its own and Russian troops to an agreed distance behind the border.

(The London Daily Express said its private radio station intercepted a Leningrad radio broadcast urging Finnish soldiers to revolt against their officers and march back from the Soviet frontier.)

"Finland's fate will be the same as Poland's, unless the people over-throw the government," the broadcast said.

PA NEW OBSERVES

Dandelions at this season of the year are somewhat unusual, but a number of them were seen blooming on the court house lawn today.

Pa New has received inquiries as to where to take toys to have them fixed for distribution on Christmas. Take them to the headquarters of the Veterans of Foreign Wars, in the old Strittmatter building, 126½ Washington street.

It won't be long now until the census enumerators will be at work and we will be able to get some authentic information as to the population of New Castle. Taking the school attendance as a criterion, it is believed that the population will show an increase from the figures of the last census.

It doesn't add much to one's respect for a hitch-hiker to have him scowled and call names when you pass him by. Often the motorist who passes him up may be going only a short distance, and for that reason fails to stop. Again, he may have heard of assaults and robberies committed by hitch-hikers, and does not care to take a chance. At any rate the hitch-hiker who displays his venom, don't deserve much consideration.

Did you ever get a chain-letter asking you to write a half dozen similar letters to friends, and warning of dire consequences if you broke the chain? And have you sometimes had a foolish fear that something might really happen if you disregarded the warning? Well, here is a new fad in chain-letters that won't cause you any worry if it is tried here. Police in some

Founder's Day Program For Legion Tonight

Tonight at eight o'clock in the west dining room of the Cathedral, a double eagle service will be held. Founders' Day for the Perry S. Gaston Post, No. 343, American Legion. The service will mark twenty years of activity by the local post of the Legion and for its old and new members will gather to hear State Commander Edward R. Stirling and a number of other speakers.

In the twenty years since it was organized Perry S. Gaston Post has been an active force in the community. Both as an organization and as individual members the Legionnaires have taken part in almost every civic venture in addition to conducting their own affairs.

The program for tonight is a lengthy one but it includes many phases of the Legion's life. Because of the crowd expected it was deemed necessary to hold the service in the Cathedral, the Legion assembly room accommodating but about 125. The west dining room of the Cathedral will accommodate at least 500.

Post Commander A. Lewis Conn will preside at tonight's service and because of the nature of the affair

Trade Difficulty Between Germany And Soviet Now

(International News Service)
AMSTERDAM, Nov. 28.—Serious difficulties have arisen between Soviet Russia and Germany in connection with their trade pact, the newspaper Telegraf reported today, adding that railway connections between the Reich and U. S. S. R. have been virtually broken.

According to reports from Berlin, said the paper, the Russians have proved "extremely difficult" regarding visse transportation and cash payments for goods received from Germany.

Former State Highways Department Engineer Testifies In Lawrence Case

Witness Says He Refused Flatly To Have Anything To Do With It

By RAYMOND WILCOVE

HARRISBURG, Nov. 28.—A former state highways department engineer testified today that he refused to prepare requisitions for gravel in 1935 because "the whole thing smelled bad."

Stanton C. Funk, of Hollidaysburg, who served as assistant engineer of the Erie highway district during the Earle administration, described how he turned down the task assigned to him at Franklin by his superior, District Engineer Edward A. Griffith.

Funk, a commonwealth witness, testified he advised Griffith he could not prepare the requisitions for use of gravel until he had obtained additional information.

Smells Bad

"The whole thing smelled bad to me and I don't want to have anything to do with it," Funk testified he warned Griffith.

"Boss, do you realize what you're laying yourself open to?" Griffith replied, according to the witness, that he had had orders to prepare the requisition.

Funk then said he refused flatly because the procedure was "packed with dynamite." He testified he advised Griffith to get the approval

Germany Warns Further Naval Successes Near

By PIERRE J. HUSS
International News Service Staff Correspondent

BERLIN, Nov. 28.—Nazi Germany warned England today that her overwhelming naval successes of the last few weeks are "merely a sample" of what may be expected in the future.

Competent German quarters predicted that within two months an "absolutely airtight" Nazi blockade would be forced around England, forcing Britain to her knees "as no nation has ever been forced before."

The Nazi government made clear that Britain's decision to seize German exports as a measure of reprisal against German naval warfare would result in the Reich's own counter-measures being "redoubled and intensified."

British Naval Vessels Hunting For Deutschland

German Pocket Battleship Is Sought In Arctic Waters After Attack

ARMED BRITISH SHIP LOST BATTLE

Switzerland Loses First Steamer As Result Of Mine Warfare

By CHARLES A. SMITH
International News Service Staff Correspondent

LONDON, Nov. 28.—British naval vessels armed with mighty 15 and 16-inch guns combed Arctic waters today in a grim search for the German pocket battleship Deutschland, which sank the armed British merchant cruiser Rawalpindi with a loss of some 300 lives south-east of Iceland.

British naval circles in London said they believed the Deutschland was attempting to make its way to a German port when it intercepted the Rawalpindi, thereby precipitating the first major naval encounter of the war.

Unequal Battle

The British vessel, formerly a crack luxury liner, was sent to the bottom Thursday after an unequal struggle against the 11-inch guns of the speedy German warship.

Authoritative circles expressed the opinion that the Deutschland is still in the Arctic attempting to elude the intensive British search which got under way the moment news of the Rawalpindi encounter reached London.

There was some speculation that the Deutschland might be compelled to run to Murmansk, Russia, if the chase becomes too hot.

Competent naval quarters scouted reports that British planes were hunting for the Deutschland. They said terrific gales and limited visibility in the area where the Deutschland is believed to be would make use of planes impractical.

Naval circles pointed out, perhaps

Soviet Tanks And Aircraft In Readiness

Large Concentrations Are Reported In Vicinity Of Leningrad

(International News Service)

MOSCOW, Nov. 28.—Large concentrations of Soviet tanks and aircraft today were reported in the Leningrad area as Russian military authorities threatened reprisals if any more Finnish border incidents occurred.

Red Star, the official newspaper of the Red army, said the military commander of the Leningrad district, gave the order that "in the event of a repetition of provocation by Finnish militarists," Soviet troops "must answer fire by fire."

The Soviet government has not yet indicated its attitude to the Finnish note, which declined point-blank to entertain the Russian demand for a unilateral withdrawal of Finnish troops from the frontier.

Moscow reports to Swedish newspapers, however, said there has been no contact between the Soviet foreign commissariat and Finnish legation since the Finns' note was delivered last night.

"Diplomatic quarters in Moscow, it was said, were inclined to believe that Russia would not consider the Finnish note as satisfactory.

The same circles, according to the dispatches, regard the situation as grave.

Berlin Reports British Cruiser Is Sunk By Sub

Claim Same Sub Captain That Sent Royal Oak Down, Sunk Ship

NAME OF VESSEL NOT ANNOUNCED

Nazi Statement Is That It Was Cruiser In London Class Of 9,750 Tons

(BULLETIN)
(International News Service)

BERLIN, Nov. 28.—A British cruiser of the London class has been torpedoed and sunk by Lieut. Commander Gunther Prien, who sank the British battleship Royal Oak, the German high command announced in an official communique today.

The cruiser was sunk, the announcement said, east of the Shetland Islands, where German aircraft have been active in recent weeks.

The Royal Oak was sent to the bottom by two torpedoes from Prien's U-boat in the harbor of Scapa Flow, the chief naval concentration base in the Orkney Islands.

Four Of Class

There are four British cruisers of the London class—the Devonshire, the London, the Shropshire and the Sussex.

All were built in 1927 or 1928, displace approximately 9,750 tons each and carry complements of 650 men. They are approximately 633 feet in length over all, with a beam of 66 feet and a draught of 17 feet.

Their armament includes eight 8-inch, 50 calibre guns, four 4-inch guns, four 3-inch guns, sixteen smaller weapons, eight 21-inch torpedo tubes and each carries a single airplane equipped with catapult apparatus.

Opposition To Roosevelt Defense Plan

Some Senators Express Stand

Declare President Will Have Opposition To Two Billion Dollar Program

SENATOR ADAMS IS MOST OUTSPOKEN

By EDWARD R. LOCKETT
International News Service Staff Correspondent
WASHINGTON, Nov. 28.—Stiff, bi-partisan opposition to President Roosevelt's 1940 National defense program developed today in the senate.

Exponent of the agricultural west and a conservative Democrat on the senate appropriations committee said the president will have a fight on his hands before he gets the two billion dollars plus he intends to ask for expanding the army and the navy.

Senator Adams (D) Colorado appropriations committee member, was the most outspoken. He said Europe has its own troubles and won't bother the United States, and warned against financial instability.

Condition Doesn't Exist
"I don't want to see this country go belly-up financially," he said, "over apprehension about some war condition that doesn't exist."

Adams then reviewed the President's recent statement in Warm Springs, Ga., that he hoped to reduce the annual deficit of the government next year.

"When the head of our government discusses cutting the deficit to two billion dollars, he's saying we aren't going to have smallpox; we'll just have diphtheria," Adams said.

His observations were echoed in responsible Republican quarters. Some Republicans revealed privately that they have received "considerable" mail from the West protesting the president's announcement he would ask a little more than the billion for the army and navy and try to reduce other expenses.

SMOKE SHELLS USED AT FRONT

French war ministry has ascertained that the German lines along the entire front are "successive emplacements."

Under this system, one battalion of each regiment is placed in the lines for a week or ten days, while the second battalion is in the immediate rear to relieve or reinforce the front lines and the third is held in reserve. All three battalions alternate in the lines as the Reichswehr "goes to school at the front," with patrolling activities taking the place of lecture halls.

Yesterday the weather prevented all but a few British reconnaissance flights, but today the weather at the front was clear and cold.

Naval authorities said that during the last ten days six attacks have been carried out by French warships against submarines under favorable conditions. It was stated unofficially that all the attacks were "probably successful."

significantly, that the only vessels possessed by the allies armed enough to speedily overtake and sink the Deutschland are Britain's mighty battle cruiser Hood, the largest warship afloat, the 32,000-ton battle cruiser Renown and Repulse, and the speedy French battle ships Dunkerque and Strasbourg.

Second German Vessel Present
Meanwhile, it was learned that some of the Rawalpindi's few survivors were landed at a British west coast port last night after being picked up from the rough, icy waters off Iceland.

A second German vessel which aided the Deutschland in sinking the Rawalpindi was believed to have been the cruiser Emden, namesake of the famous German World War raider.

Switzerland, meanwhile, suffered her first maritime casualty of the war when the 5,260-ton steamer Helena, the former Helene Kulundis, one of nine Greek ships chartered by a Swiss transport company, was reported to have struck a mine and sunk in the English Channel off the French coast. Casualties were not immediately known.

Hope for salvaging the 8,857-ton Holland-America trans-Atlantic liner Spaarndam, which struck a mine off the Thames river estuary, was abandoned when the partially submerged ship caught fire at midnight.

Although the ship was 10 miles out, giant flames shooting from its hull could be seen from shore. Five persons were reported killed aboard the liner, including a woman passenger tentatively identified by the Dutch vessel's owners as an American named Mrs. Stephen Gobel.

Six counties in Pennsylvania are without bonded indebtedness, according to a report issued by the Department of Internal Affairs. The counties are Cameron, Forest, Franklin, Fulton, Montgomery and Union. Lawrence county still has some bonded indebtedness, but it is practically without debt, since there is enough money in the county treasury to pay off all the bonds were they callable. Since the bonds cannot be paid off, it's likely that there will be another cut in the tax millage for the ensuing year.

Lawrence county's comfortable financial condition is due largely to economy practiced by our county commissioners, and to collection of delinquent taxes under recent abatement acts.

Pa New notes that the different granges in the county are quite active this season. What with oyster suppers, entertainments, and a d speeches on farm subjects, there's not much danger of the farmer getting lonesome, or pining for some place to go. Granges serve a useful purpose in the life of a community. Activities in the grange hall will go far toward keeping boys and girls on the farm. So let them have plenty of oyster suppers with a pint of oysters in each stew.

throw their treacherous leaders," the Leningrad broadcaster was quoted as stating.

Willing To Investigate

The note also indicated Finland's willingness to appoint a joint committee to investigate Russian charges that four Soviet soldiers were killed and nine wounded by Finnish soldiers in the Finnish-Soviet border area.

One third of the total space in the Moscow papers was devoted to descriptions of nation-wide meetings and demonstrations of Russian "anger and indignation" against the Finnish government.

Finland's reply to the stern Russian note which demanded withdrawal of the Finnish troops from the frontier stated flatly that a Finnish investigation showed there had been no shooting on the Finnish side of the border, as charged by Russia.

In Soviet Territory

It added, however, that seven cannon shots were heard on the Russian side of the border, thereby plainly implying that the shots originated in Soviet territory.

In addition, the reply insisted that the Helsinki government had undertaken no hostile moves against the Soviet union and contended that Finland would discuss withdrawal of troops from the frontier only if Russia would do the same.

Countering the Russian complaint that regular Finnish troops are stationed along the frontier near Leningrad, the note stated that these positions are being held only by regular border guards and that there is no Finnish artillery piece in the area with sufficient range to reach across the border.

Finnish Press Supports Government

Helsingfors, Nov. 28.—The entire Finnish press rallied in support of the government today, praising its refusal to give in to Russian demands for withdrawal of Finnish troops from the Soviet border.

The keynote of the press campaign was struck by the newspaper Hufvudstads Bladet, which stated: "A united nation supports the honest efforts of the Finnish government."

Russian charges that Finnish artillery killed four Soviet soldiers and wounded nine others aroused widespread indignation in Finland. The government denied the charges in its reply to Moscow.

Seeking Argument

Authorities here also were angry at a tone of the Russian note, asserting that it showed the Soviets were seeking an argument with Finland on any grounds in order to force acceptance of the Russian demands for territorial concessions, which Finland rejected several weeks ago.

One of Finland's most noted warriors, Field Marshal Carl Gustav Emil Mannerheim issued a statement saying it was impossible that Finnish artillery could have fired shots killing Soviet troops on the other side of the border.

"There must be some misunderstanding," he said, "as our most advanced battery of light field guns was 20 kilometers from the frontier and the heavy artillery was at least 50 kilometers behind the border."

In addition, troops on Sunday afternoon (when Russia claimed the firing occurred) were attending field services in the open air.

Good Airport

Colonel Chamberlin congratulated the local group for its interest in aviation and its sponsorship of the New Castle Gas Model Airplane Builders club. He urged the club to cooperate with city officials and the Greater New Castle Association in their efforts to secure an additional runway and construction of an administration building. With the completion of these essentials, the New Castle Airport will rank with the best in the country, Chamberlin said. His address was unusually interesting.

Colonel Chamberlin was the first man to fly the Atlantic with a passenger and was the first aviator to take off from the deck of a passenger ship, rising from the "Leviathan" 100 miles at sea, on July 31, 1927, in a test to speed important mails from European ports and the United States. Awards made to the noted man, who is spending a brief stay here, include the Distinguished Flying Cross and the New York Medal of Honor.

L. J. Lewis called attention to one of the National Exchange objectives—service to aviation—and stated that during the past year, nearly one out of every three Exchange clubs in America was active in this work.

Following the dinner meeting, Mrs. Chamberlin was honored at a reception. The Exchange club meets again on Monday, December 4, in The Castleton, starting at 5:45 o'clock.

Deaths of the Day

Mrs. William F. Dickson

Mrs. Cora A. Dickson, aged 64 years, wife of William F. Dickson, was found dead at her residence, 9 East Leisure avenue, at about noon on Monday. She had been in poor health for a number of years and for the past ten weeks was confined to her home.

Mrs. Dickson was born in Wilmington township on March 11, 1875, daughter of Samuel and Catherine Signor. She passed her lifetime in Lawrence county. An active member of the Highland United Presbyterian church, she was in the Naomi Circle and the home department of the Sabbath school.

Her husband, daughter, Kathryn Dickson, at home; two nieces, Mrs. Frank Sewall of New Wilmington and Mrs. Carl Allison of Alliquippa, and several other relatives in the west, survive.

The body will be at the home until 11 a. m. Wednesday when it will be taken to the R. L. Boyd funeral home where services will be conducted at 3 p. m. Dr. D. L. Ferguson of Highland church in charge. Interment will be in Castle View Burial Park.

Mrs. Albertina Bruno

Mrs. Albertina Zursky Bruno, aged 72 years, of the old Pulaski road, New Castle, R. D. 3, widow of Frank Bruno, died in the New Castle hospital Monday afternoon at 2:30 o'clock after two months of illness.

Mrs. Bruno was born October 6, 1867, in Germany, daughter of Frank and Rose Zursky. The family came to New Castle 50 years ago.

Mr. Bruno was preceded in death by her husband, Frank, on October 5, 1938. Surviving are one son, Henry Bruno, New Castle, R. D. 3, with whom she resided; one grandchild, Mrs. Arthur McKnight, of Sharon, and one brother, Leo Zursky, of New Castle.

The body is at the Darrell Burke funeral home, where the family will receive friends tonight from 7 to 9 o'clock, and Wednesday from 2 to 4 and 7 to 9.

High mass of requiem will be celebrated in St. Joseph's church, of which Mrs. Bruno was a member, Thursday morning at 9:30 o'clock and interment will be in St. Joseph's cemetery.

Funeral Of Mrs. Walsh

Solemn high mass of requiem for the late Mrs. Robert Walsh, of Hillcrest avenue, was celebrated in St. Mary's church this morning at 10 o'clock by Rev. Fr. Leo S. Watterson. Rev. Fr. William F. Galvin was the deacon of the mass and Rev. Fr. E. R. Seeling of Madonna church, was the sub-deacon.

Palbearers were Paul, Leo and Joseph Quinn, Arthur Johnson, Albert Jenkins and Paul Dean.

Interment was in St. Mary's cemetery. Father Galvin conducted the service of committal.

Free Services Wednesday

Mrs. Nicholas Longworth, daughter of the late President Theodore Roosevelt, and Attorney General Frank Murphy.

The 400 standees and the $16,000 gross in the house raised the hopes of General Manager Edward Johnson that the opera may be better able to weather its customary financial headaches this year.

The recent death of Arthur Baddamsky, senior conductor, and the absence of several Italian and German performers because of the European war, tempered the evening's gaiety to a slight degree.

Mission Youngsters Banquet Tomorrow

The City Rescue Mission Wednesday afternoon will provide its Sunday school youngsters with their annual Thanksgiving dinner. Superintendent Archie W. Gibson announced. Dinner will be served at 5 o'clock.

Bible study will feature the mission service tonight.

To Check Constipation Get at Its Cause!

If constipation has you down so you feel heavy, tired and dopey, it's time you did something about it. And something more than just taking a physic! You should get at the cause of the trouble.

If you eat the super-refined food most people eat, the chances are the difficulty is simple—you don't get enough "bulk." And "bulk" doesn't mean heavy food. It's a kind of food that isn't consumed in the body, but leaves a soft "bulky" mass in the intestines.

If this common form of constipation is your trouble, eat Kellogg's All-Bran for breakfast every day and drink plenty of water. All-Bran isn't a medicine—it's a crunchy, toasted, nutritious cereal. And it will help you not only get regular but to keep regular, day after day. Made by Kellogg's in Battle Creek. Sold by every grocer.

METHODISTS TALK 'WORLD SERVICE'

Layman, Ministers Of Sub-District Hear Speakers Monday

Two speakers—Rev. William A. Thornton, pastor of Epworth Methodist church, and Dr. W. E. Bartlett, Grove City, superintendent of the Grove City district of the Methodist church—delivered challenging messages here yesterday to 50 Methodist laymen and ministers representing churches of the New Castle sub-district.

The church group, assembled in First Methodist church, heard Rev. Thornton and Dr. Bartlett stress the importance of promoting church work throughout the world. The rally was one of many being called throughout the Methodist denomination.

In the afternoon the Epworth minister spoke, then group discussions took place. Dinner came in the evening, followed by Dr. Bartlett's challenge at night.

The entire Grove City district will send representatives to Epworth church here Tuesday evening, December 5 for an evening discussion of lay activities, it was announced.

Dr. Charles T. Greer, Meadville, superintendent of the Meadville district, will be the speaker. Mrs. C. S. Hart heads the banquet committee, and V. O. Potter the ticket committee.

Members of the Community Chest must be in by Saturday, December 6. Members will bring ends of old candles at the next meeting, when hand-dipped candles will be made.

Mrs. George Ward was in charge of the program of the evening. She was assisted by Mrs. Virginia Brown and Alice Roberts. The leaders were divided into two groups, and they went on an imaginary hike. Alice Roberts was in charge of the group that went on a "perfect hike" and Ruth Hanna was the "perfect scout." Mrs. Virginia Brown was in charge of the other group. A hike discussion was held by Mrs. Ward.

Leaders who are enrolled in the training course were present at the Association meeting. Scout director, Helen MacLean, brought to attention, the change of date at the next meeting, which will be on December 18, at the church at 7:30 o'clock.

But it's going to cost a lot if congressmen must be called back in session every time they fail to do something they should.

NEW CASTLE CHAPTER STYLE SHOW SUCCESS

Before an appreciative audience, members and guests of New Castle Chapter No. 165, Order of the Eastern Star, witnessed a delightful occasion, when the chapter, with Miss Margaret Sanfilippo, worthy matron, presented a style show and musical in the East lodge room, Monday night, following their short business session. Upwards of 125 attended, and shortly after 8, the ah's and oh's heard through the audience as models made their entrances, wearing the season's smartest creations, further told it was an enjoyable and successful event.

The styles shown, were from The Ladies stores, with Edward Haines, manager. Mrs. Flora DeVassey, was chairman of the promenade.

Those who modeled, were Mrs. Flora DeVassey, Mrs. Margaret Frank, Miss Gerry Flick, Miss Madge Pezzone and little Janet Flick. Special mention is given to Misses Flick, who modeled "sister" clothes, in a unique fashion. Winter costumes, street dresses, coats, children's frocks, and formal, revealed that, dashing color, bustle of intricate tucks, and other features, added much to the chic of Madams wardrobe this winter.

At the close, the assemblage was escorted to the West diningroom of the Cathedral, where refreshments were served at attractively arranged tables. Mrs. J. Leon Pink was chairman of this part of the program, and a surprise, was the huge birthday cake, prominently placed, in honor of Mrs. Margaret Sanfilippo, worthy matron of the chapter, it being her birthday anniversary.

Aiding in the diningroom, were: Mrs. Pink, Mrs. Carl Wallace, Mrs. William Wignall, Mrs. Stella Woods, Mrs. Earl Wimer and Mrs. Fred Wood. Those on the general committee, composed, Mrs. Howard Sturdy, Mrs. L. B. Round, Mrs. William Whieldon, Mrs. Russell Melvin, Mrs. Anna Wagner and Mrs. H. W. French.

The proceeds realized, will be used for the benefit of the Educational Loan fund, of which Mrs. H. W. French, general chairman of the evening's festivities, is in charge.

C. D. of A. Has Party
Catholic Daughters of America had a card party for the benefit of their Christmas charities, in the K. of C. home Monday evening. Bridge, 500 and other games provided the chief pastimes.

Prizes were awarded as follows: Mrs. Stella Malloy, Mrs. Bernadine Ryan; 500, Mrs. Mel Hanon, Mrs. Plate; games, Mrs. Ruth McLafferty, Mrs. Ann McCann.

At the close of play refreshments were served by the committee, composed of Mrs. Mary Maher, Mrs. Mary Geddes, Mrs. Frances Colao, Mrs. Alice Carey, Mary Elizabeth Joyce, Margaret Mary Maher, Rose Uhl and Clare Duff.

Section F. Y. L. B.
Mrs. Sadie McConahy entertained Section F. of the Y. L. B. class on a recent evening in the home of Mrs. Olive McCoy, Hazel street.

A social time was enjoyed, with the hostess serving lunch, assisted by Mrs. P. Moore.

The section will serve lunch at the Y. L. B. class meeting held on December 5, at the church.

On December 8, the section will have their regular meeting.

Dr. Elizabeth Spann Speaker At Woman's Club On Monday

Drifting down the Danube on its way to the Black Sea, stopping to gain imposing impressions of the several civilizations that make up the Balkan states and wing these in with the possible effects produced by the war in Western Europe was the rich experience of Dr. Elizabeth Spann, lecturer before the Woman's Club Monday afternoon in the Highland Church. Dr. Spann, assistant professor of German at Allegheny College, is an American citizen who was born and who grew up in Germany during the World War. Her family still lives there.

That the Balkans hold the key to the situation in Europe because of their source of food and oil was confirmed by observation and interview. "This is an economic war! The nation that has the most money and stamina will win... If there is a victor in the present war."

Foregoing political controversies, the speaker described with vivid detail her travels through Hungary, Rumania and Bulgaria, her contact with their peoples and customs. Drawing an imaginary line through Vienna, an oriental civilization prevails on the East "puzzling, interesting, turbulent." She reviewed briefly a thousand years of restless history in which three waves of civilizations swept the lands. In turn they were annexed by the Turks the Romans, the Byzantines, the Teutons, and the Hungarian Magyars. Belgrade alone was six times taken from the Turks by the Hungarians, the Germans, the Austrians and the Serbs. Here religious and philosophies clashed. Emotional and physical hardships were endured.

Describing the conflicts of the Balkan peoples who cannot get along together and who within themselves have the dynamite to explode, Dr. Spann believes they will control the situation; that the impetus that will open divide them will come from without.

Budapest, in the heart of Hungary, one of the singularly gay and beautiful modern cities of the world represents western Europe in the circle of Danubian states. Her people are proud, poised with fine linguistic achievement. To the south and east lie the agricultural plains fertilized by the Danube until it breaks through the Carpathian mountains.

An island in the river which escaped transfer from the Turks until 1912 was next colorfully described as being a counterpart of former Turkey where men wear the fez and women, the veil; where minarets and mosques abound.

Rumania was vexing and puzzling with a highly developed spy system. Its common border with Bulgaria was lined with gun boats ready for any emergency. The modern city of Bucharest, elegant, chic, streamlined contrasts with the older sections still bearing Turkish architectural influences. Wealth that oil brings was evidenced in the large number of American made high powered automobiles on the streets, a contrast to other European metropolitan centers. Suburbs present the opposite picture of clay houses and markets with no regard for the sanitary care of food.

In Bulgaria a mixture of people's about. They are backward and retiring and follow a slow pitch with fields of sunflowers and groves of roses for their oil.

All look across the Atlantic to United States which has suddenly left off being a young nation in their eyes and has taken on a mature stature. To the United States they turn now for moral help in their intricate and insoluble problems.

Dr. Spann was presented to the club by Mrs. J. Glen Berry.

During business session, president Mrs. Arthur Foster, asked for support for the project of the Lawrence County Federation of Women's Clubs to aid in work of production for the American Red Cross. This will include the making of compresses sewing and knitting for refugees and other war sufferers. Mrs. Dudley Arnold spoke for the sub-juniors' promotion of anti-tuberculosis seals. The next meeting will be the holiday program in charge of the Department of Fine Arts.

MRS. S. M. MATHENY RECEIVES CIRCLE '91

Mrs. S. M. Matheny opened her home on Wallace avenue to the Reading Circle of '91, on Monday afternoon, and presiding as critic for the day, was Mrs. C. D. Parker. "Thanksgiving Thoughts" were offered in answer to roll call.

After routine affairs were completed, an especially fine paper on "Why Have Thanksgiving" was given by Mrs. Carmi Glover. "Thanksgiving Poem" was the next feature, contributed by Mrs. J. L. Pink and in conclusion, "Thanksgiving Story" was an article read by Mrs. Thomas Lindsey. A short discussion ensued.

The next meeting will be with Mrs. W. H. Shipley on Highland avenue, and will be in the nature of Yuletide assembly.

Education Department
According to the custom, the education department of the Woman's club met directly before the entire club assembled Monday at 1:30 p. m. The guest speaker was C. W. Mason, whose topic, "Adult Education and Democracy" was very intelligently presented. Mr. Mason, who lives in Butler county and who is well known as an educator, brought out the relationship of adult education and democracy in an understandable manner.

Two other departmental meetings were conducted Monday previous to the club meeting, those of the legislation and social welfare departments.

Daughters Of Lydia
Of even more than usual interest was the November program of the Daughters of Lydia in the First Presbyterian church downtown. The hostesses, Mrs. E. W. Crawford, Mrs. William Dunn, Mrs. A. M. Bickett and Mrs. Laura Lanton, served lovely refreshments at 2:15 and at 3 o'clock a nicely prepared program was presented, with the president, Mrs. A. B. Street, presiding. Mrs. Bickett spoke on "Two Letters from Paul to Titus and Philimon" and Mrs. Crawford reviewed a playlet, "The Model Missionary Society". Both presentations were done very pleasingly and were highlights of the enjoyable Saturday afternoon.

The members adjourned to meet on December 30.

Watchman To Meet
American Home Watchman, lodge 45 will meet this evening in the McGoun hall on East Washington street for a social time. The party is in charge of the group within the lodge, called the Our Pals club and Mrs. Elmer Ferrell has charge.

MAXWELL CIRCLE TO HAVE JANUARY TEA

On the January calendar will be the "Cosmopolitan Tea Party" to be presented by associates of the Maxwell Circle of the Epworth Methodist church. Hostesses will be two girls at each table from the group with each of these representing the various nations of the world.

Mrs. Gladys Gorley was hostess Monday evening in her home at 701 1/2 Oak street. Program aides were Dorothy Depp and Mrs. Martha Miller. A tasty menu was served and the hostess was assisted by her mother, Mrs. Fred L. Kirnmayr.

The date of the next regular session has been changed from the usual time, which is December 25, to December 27, and will be in the form of a Christmas party in the residence of Mrs. Walter Gilmore, East Washington street.

JUNIOR AUXILIARY MEETS MONDAY NIGHT

The Junior Auxiliary of the American Legion held their regular meeting Monday evening in the Legion home with the junior president, Helen Hayes, presiding.

Plans were made for a three-course dinner to be held December 29, with mothers as guests.

Mrs. Mary Wilson, coupon chairman of the Lawrence, Beaver and Mercer counties, gave an interesting talk and Dorothy Wilson was appointed as junior chairman of coupons in this district. Shirley Hanna was appointed junior chairman of child welfare.

Mrs. Ruth Connors, newly elected president of the senior auxiliary, gave a talk on welfare work and made remarks about donations given to the American Red Cross and the Community Chest.

The regular meeting of the junior auxiliary will be the fourth day of each month in the Legion home, with Mrs. Marvin Dismore and Mrs. Frances Cope as their supervisors.

Following the meeting a card party took place given by the junior and senior auxiliary for members and friends. Prizes went to Mrs. Frank Dute, William Richardson, Mrs. Carl Gaston and Mrs. Ruth Connors. Mrs. Alice Cleaver won the door prize. Following the game, a delicious lunch was served by a capable committee. The success of the affair was due to Mrs. Marvin Dismore, Mr. and Mrs. James Cooper, Mrs. Frances Cope, Mrs. Dorothy Gaston and Mrs. Clela Hanna.

CHAPTER CHOIR AT OWENS HOME

Mrs. Mary Owens of 711 Arlington avenue graciously opened her home on Monday evening to members of the Cathedral Chapter Choir No. 440 Order of the Eastern Star with Mrs. Edna Hartland, co-hostess.

A short rehearsal took place directed by Mrs. Owens, accompanied at the piano by Mrs. Mildred Dower. Following rehearsal, cards and other contests were enjoyed with awards being captured by Mrs. Margaret Pritchard, Mrs. Ruth Gee, Mrs. Catherine Johns and Mrs. Ada Keeling. Later, the hostesses invited the guests, numbering 24, to the dining room where they enjoyed a tasty lunch. Assisting the hostesses in serving were Mrs. Carl Sumner and Mrs. Raymond Phillips.

Special guests were Mrs. David W. Reese and Mrs. Alvin H. Brown. The next rehearsal will be in the form of a Christmas party at the home of Mrs. Sadie McCreary, past worthy matron, at her home on 417 Park avenue, Monday evening, December 18, at 7:30, with Mrs. Margaret Pritchard as co-hostess.

Honored On Birthday
Mrs. Mary Malissa Houk was pleasantly surprised on a recent evening when 82 friends and relatives, including four generations, gathered at her home in Castletown to honor her on the 80th birthday anniversary.

A social hour was enjoyed when plans were made to have an annual reunion of the descendants of William and Mary Melissa Houk with Mrs. Houk being elected honorary president. Clyde B. Houk of Ellwood City was elected as acting president.

Rev. S. W. Wagner of Ellwood City addressed the assemblage and congratulated Mrs. Houk, who is the mother of fifteen children, eleven of whom are living and all of whom were present on this occasion.

Refreshments were served by Mrs. Tessie Bell, Mrs. Abbie Waddington and Mrs. Rebecca Houk. A large bouquet, a gift from the grandchildren, formed the centerpiece.

Mrs. Houk was presented with a collection of beautiful and useful gifts as remembrances of the event.

B. C. Club
Members of the B. C. club had an all-day meeting in the form of a "housecleaning" party, at the home of Mrs. Leo Wolfe, 708 County Line street, recently.

At noon Mrs. Wolfe served a dainty lunch.

The Parent Problem

By Garry C. Myers, Ph. D.

BE WISE IN PICKING TOYS

In choosing toys and playthings for your children, ask yourself a few questions.
Is the toy safe? Most toys now are made with safety in mind. Even the paint on the best-made toys is non-poisonous, though some of the cheaper toys have a paint that is poisonous to the tot who gnaws and chews on them.

How long will it last? Please don't put a frail toy into the hands of your child. A frail toy discourages carefulness and even encourages destructiveness. Buy a few sturdy toys rather than many fragile ones.

If the child is guided in careful use of a sturdy toy, this toy might be handed down to a younger child.
How long will the child enjoy it? You should consider whether it will appeal to him for only a few minutes, hours or days, or linger in its lure indefinitely. The simpler the plaything, as a rule, the more use it will be put to and the more it will be employed with other things for creating. A plain block is a good example.

Creative Toys

The child who, before the age of three or four has spent much time at creative building with simple blocks, will be the more likely later to adapt even mechanical toys to creative purposes. A certain boy, for instance, who received an electric train at the age of eight did not merely run this train, but for several years thereafter devised all sorts of inventions about it. The involved use of many other simple materials.

Beginning with the tot, put emphasis on tools and materials for creative and constructive play—crayons, paints, paste, modeling clay, scissors and brads, gradually adding hammer, saw, plane, vise and the like.

Is the toy suited to the child's age? Can he operate it himself or must it be put together, wound or run by an adult or older child?

Can he share most of his toys with others? Simple blocks, things on wheels, constructive sets, even electric trains for the older child, encourage co-operative social play. So do certain card games, dominoes, checkers, etc.; the whole family can engage in them. For children above six the collapsible pocket billiard table is a good investment, and if there is room, a ping pong table.

Outdoor Play

To encourage outdoor play, consider a kiddie car, wagon and tricycle for the tot; and for the child of four and over, roller skates, ice skates and skis.

And remember good books and children's magazines among your gifts. If the budget permits, you might consider good sets of children's literature and other reference sets, including a children's encyclopedia, even a typewriter.

Solving Parent Problems

Q. Do you think it good for a child's health and character to walk reasonable distances to school?

A. I certainly do. On the contrary, I deplore the harm many parents are doing to their children by totting them, except on stormy days, short distances to and from school, and in supplying cars to high school students for such a purpose.

STAMP ARTISTS

Our President and his Postmaster General are great stamp collectors. Far be it from me to intimate that it is solely for the purpose of their stamp collection that the many, many new stamps are being designed, printed and sold for postal use.

Some of these stamps are very attractive. As a matter of fact our postage stamps have been very artistic compared to the stamps of many other Nations. But Postmaster General Farley is evidently seeing to it that he does not intend to miss anything, however, in his collection and artists, authors, composers and poets are coming into the world.

Having apparently exhausted the roster of presidents and statesmen, the Post Office Department is turning to new fields for inspiration. A suggestion for a new stamp is something the government has never plowed under. Certainly if variety is the spice of life, the Post Office Department has been more than generous in supplying its share of seasoning.

Soon to be issued is a "famous American" series of postage stamps which will introduce thirty-five faces new to the public and the postal service. The notable Americans will include not only poets, composers, authors and artists, but inventors, educators and scientists. Well and good. But some day officials should consider imprinting the likeness of that ever popular ever faithful public servant who carries the nation's letters—the mail man!

HINTS AND DINTS

Sun sets tonight 4:35. Sun rises tomorrow 7:02.

Every American should be a member of the Red Cross. It doesn't cost much and your money is needed to carry on the great world work. Boost your city by making the membership big.

At a lecture before a group of police, a college instructor said the public would like police to be able to tell a professor from a crook.

We expect the answer is that an absent-minded chap is likely to be the college professor, while if he's prosperous it's pretty certain he's a crook.

We heard of a chap who lives in this county who got a lot of garlic and fried it and ate it and he says he cannot smell or taste since. It's a wonder something worse did not happen to him.

There are just as many ways of tearing things down as there are of building them up.

Very often it's better for school kids being a little dumb than having them study too hard. We're dumb.

We have noticed that snow on the streets slows up a lot of the speed boys. That's one thing they are afraid of.

PRECAUTION

A prominent author advises youthful writers to get jobs in filling stations.

He didn't say it but we suppose the wisdom may be that the station may turn out to be such a good spot that it may be unnecessary to write the great American novel.

A local lady asks us why we do not say anything about the cards candidates at the recent election put up and do not tear down. That eventually may cause a city ordinance and it will not be hard to find the offenders and fine them.

In 1620 people started to leave Europe to come to this country and they have been coming ever since. Great is America!

Luke McLuke says it's no wonder he can't understand the scriptures—he can't even understand an insurance policy.

Some Pittsburgh stores advertise that they will fill telephone orders 24 hours a day. That's taking up about the whole day.

We aren't surprised when money makes people haughty, but why does a little guy get that way when the money he handles isn't his?

NO RUSH

There has been a lot of talk about New York being a place where everyone always was in a hurry. But we have some evidence to contradict the belief. One New York union's name is "The Enterprise Association of Steam, Hot Water, Hydraulic Sprinkler, Pneumatic Tube, Compressed Air, Ice Machine, Acetylene Welders and General Pipe Fitters Local 636." You can't prove to us the people who named that outfit are impatient.

In Germany an order has been given to cut six inches off every shirt tail. That will take the whole back out of some shirts.

An attempt will be made to change the liquor law which provides for one saloon for every 1,000 inhabitants in the district. Clubs are not to be counted as saloons. We have to have plenty of suds parlors. It is also stated it will take 18 years to get the number of saloons to fit the number of inhabitants.

A local man will allow a friend to call him a liar but if he is referred to as being "stupid" he'll take off his coat and fight.

A local boy, looking at a man, said, "Father says you are a self-made man. Why did you make yourself what you look like?"

FLOSSIE FLOURISHES
Miss Flossie Fernhill recently was asked to attend a luncheon given by a group known as the Minute Men. She declined.

"I like a man who takes his time," she replied.

And then, Miss Fernhill was asked for advice on the best way to hold a man.

"In your arms," she answered. "Which recalls the time Flossie was visiting a night club. Just ahead of her was a woman wearing a very expensive fur coat.

"Goodness, what a lovely coat!" exclaimed the check-room girl.

"Goodness had very little to do with that," remarked the sharp-tongued Flossie to her escort.

A prisoner leaving the Steubenville, O., jail was found carrying a suit of clothes belonging to another prisoner under his coat. Another case of in again, out again.

Prisoners in a California jail went on a strike because the mush served them was not fit for food. There is also a lot of mush served outside of jails that tastes scandalous.

A MAN'S JOB
A man's job is his best friend. It clothes and feeds his wife and children, pays the rent and supplies them with the wherewithal to develop and become cultivated. The least a man can do in return is to love his job. A man's job is grateful.

It is like a little garden that thrives on love. It will one day flower into fruit worth while, for him and his to enjoy. If you ask any successful business man the reason for his making good, he will tell you it is because he likes his work; indeed he loves it. His whole heart and soul are wrapped up in it. His whole physical and mental energies are focused on it. He walks his work; he talks his work; he is entirely inseparable from his work, and that is the way every man worth his salt ought to be if he wants to make his work what it should be and make of himself what he wants to be—Senator Arthur Capper.

Back in New Jersey a man comes out with the report that he has invented the stingless bee.

Now if he will only turn to the mosquito, his name will go among those of the saints.

He used to praise me for my looks. And rate my beauty high. But now he calls, "I'm hungry! Say, bring on that apple pie!"

And do I mourn for bygone days. Or sit around and sigh? Not me! I grab the rolling pin—And bake an apple pie.

Being predestined to dies in an auto wreck doesn't seem unreasonable. A fool driver is evidently predestined to be that way.

NOT SO NARROW
The A. B. C. church was interviewing the hotel keeper regarding accommodations for their coming state convention and were appalled when the latter promised to take care of all their visiting delegates, if they would sleep three in a bed.

The delegates from the X. Y. Z. church did it," he replied.

"But," said the A. B. C. church spokesman, "our church members are not so narrow as they are!"

An Albany, N. Y., woman used a zipper to sew up her turkey instead of a needle and thread. The zipper is going to be used for a lot of things in times to come.

The New Jersey Liquor Board has ruled that it is unlawful to eat whisky mince pie with a spoon. It's all right to eat it with a fork if it is not too liquid to stick to it.

Seen in New Castle: A man lingering about his locked up home at 1-a-m, waiting for his wife and children to come home to let him in.

What's What At A Glance

Filipino Wants U. S. Protection
Says Islands In Need Of Uncle Sam
Americans Are Most Generous In World

By CHARLES P. STEWART

(Central Press Columnist)

WASHINGTON, D. C., Nov. 28.—For variety, a kaleidoscope has nothing on an interview with Dr. Vicente Villamin, a Filipino. Dr. Villamin is campaigning here to prevent the United States from granting to the Philippines any greater measure of independence than they enjoy already. He's a world-politician, an economist, a lawyer, a writer, an all-around savant and he's traveled in more countries than any other globe-trotter I ever encountered.

All the subjects that he's familiar with and all the places he's visited (from astronomy to retail merchandising, from Manila westwardly around the earth to San Francisco, from Canada to Patagonia) he discusses miscellaneously.

He doesn't deal with them separately. He mixes 'em up regardless of consequences.

Of course, his favorite theme is the Yankee-Filipino relationship.

"Americans," he says, "are the fairest, most understanding and generous people in the world. As a Filipino I am thankful that my country is with the United States and strongly hope that the association will continue throughout the endless procession of the years."

Changing The Subject
Then, changing his theme, "The $5-wind, totalitarianism," observes the "doc," "like the 5-cent word, 'litterbug,' isn't going to last long. It's as hard to pronounce as the clownish dance is hard to perform."

"Some pseudo-intellectuals get the notion that it's a mark of intellectuality to glorify Communism to distinguish it from rheumatism. And now it's becoming hybridized with Nazism. Oh, gosh! If ever it becomes involved with Fascism, it might happen. The items, though, couldn't combine with democracy. It would be what breeders call a 'violent cross.' It wouldn't be reproductive."

But Dr. Villamin doesn't believe there's any danger of that. He's satisfied of democracy's integrity.

The only thing he's afraid of is that the Philippines, if split off from the U. S. A., will be snaked into the "isms" periphery. In short, he fears that Japan will grab the archipelago.

What's War
It would be a bright idea, "Doc" Villamin suggests, for Uncle Sam to recognize war where it actually prevails—not alone where it's official. That is to say, everybody knows that war's raging between Japan and China. Yet there's been no declaration on either side.

"Doc" Villamin's thesis is this: A phony war rages between the Allies and Germany—and we recognize it.

A real war rages between Japan and China and we don't recognize it.

Receipts From Concessions Of Blind Increase

Gross Sales Show Big Increase
During Past Year, State Council Reveals

(International News Service)

HARRISBURG, Nov. 28.—The annual report of the State Council for the Blind to the United States Office of Education reveals a substantial increase during the past fiscal year in total net income to blind operators of the 42 concession stands now established in Pennsylvania.

These stands, located in government buildings, hospitals and many of the large industrial concerns, are under the direct supervision of the State Council for the Blind, which arranges for the locations, trains the operators and helps them set up the business.

In accord with the blind employment act of 1936 the state council is required to make annual reports to the United States Office of Education. A comparative survey of the yearly report of these stand concessions for the past two federal fiscal years shows that in the past year gross sales have increased from $140,036.65 to $224,657.58. Average monthly sales per stand increased from $453.19 to $594.85. Gross wages paid full and part-time assistants increased from $7,111.24 to $11,649.84.

Total net income for operators jumped from $18,288.75 to $34,424.27.

Downtown To See Modern
Vans On Display Before
Safety Banquet

A downtown parade of motor trucks—trucks, trailers, tankers and special equipment—will launch the all-winter and all-summer "safety and courtesy drive" of Lawrence county truckers Friday afternoon, December 8, it was announced today.

The parade precedes a dinner honoring Howard Gribble, Pittsburgh, president of the Pennsylvania Motor Truck association. The parade and banquet are being sponsored by the state group's Lawrence County chapter.

"This will be the first motor truck parade New Castle has ever had," Secretary L. A. Orlando of the local chapter said. "It will let motorists know that truckers here not alone are interested in highway safety, but propose to do something about it."

With Gibbs as an honor guest will be Edward Gogolin, general manager of the state organization. President Paul W. Keely of the Lawrence County chapter will preside.

Author Of Best Seller To Speak Here Nov. 29

Dr. Leland D. Baldwin, lecturer in history at the University of Pittsburgh, and author of "The Delectable County," a novel, now in the best seller list, will speak before the Lawrence County Historical Society, November 29, in the New Castle Senior high school building.

Dr. Baldwin, novel, recommended by the Book of the Month club and by the Literary Guild, is already in its fifth printing. The novel, based on history, deals with early days in Pittsburgh and western Pennsylvania.

Dr. Baldwin is also the author of three other books: "Pittsburgh: The Story of a City," "Whiskey Rebels," and "The Keelboat Age on Western Waters." An authority on the history of western Pennsylvania, he has spent more than seven years in research and writing on western Pennsylvania historical projects. He served as assistant director in charge of research for the Historical Society of Western Pennsylvania.

He is now editor of the University of Pittsburgh Press, which is publishing historical manuscripts resulting from the Western Pennsylvania Historical Project, and is a

Will Have Parts In Senior Play

Joanna Hood And Jack Potter
Named For Important Roles

Joanna Hood Jack Potter

Two coveted roles in the senior class play, "Daddy Long-Legs," scheduled for production at the end of this week have fallen to Joanna Hood and Jack Potter.

Joanna is to play the part of Julia Pendleton, lovely and spoiled child of wealth, who by humanly directed chance becomes the college room-mate of the all-conquering orphan around whom the story centers. Julia is too wholesome not to yield to the attractions of the merry-hearted girl who suddenly appears out of nowhere in the charmed circle of the privileged, and is not distressed when her own devoted swain Jimmie McBride, moth-like is captivated by the unusual new radiance. "Zipper" plays the good sport under these rather trying circumstances. Perhaps she has learned some of the principles involved through her membership in the Rainbow Girls and the Girl Reserves. She is another member of the cast not new to dramatics this semester; she made her stage-bow first last year in "Hooray for Youth." She is the daughter of Mr. and Mrs. W. H. Hood of Bedford street.

Jack Potter, son of Mr. and Mrs. Orville Potter of Hillcrest avenue, is cast for that gilded youth with the roving fancy, Jimmie McBride. The fortunes of Jimmie's pursuit of the new prize are a highly diverting feature of what takes place on the stage in "Daddy Long Legs." Like the mercurial James McBride, Jack is a young man of many interests.

His hobby of autograph-hunting is guaranteed to give him unusual experience. His membership in Hi-Y, The Builders, and in the Junior Odd-Fellows undoubtedly extends his social contacts widely beyond the ordinary class-room and graduating class groups. One is quite sure that Jimmie and Jack if disappointed in love affairs, will find consolation in a world of men until the next bright radiance dawn on his horizon.

"Everybody goes down in the kick except old Dippy Dan, a gimp-legged old case-keeper, who we knew only by the above name. The next few weeks old Dan is tailing Wetmore and putting this and that together he gets help that Wetmore is booked to sail on a certain ship and then he finds that Limpy is booked for the same ship. They was to sail at midnight. Dan gives some of the Lopez mob an earful and at 10 o'clock that night, both mobs are sneaking up the back stairs of the Lopez club.

"They bust into the office and there's Wetmore and Lopez splitting up all the defense funds and stuffing them into a couple of satchels. They had been partners all along, and the war was just a hip-podrome. The boys started operating on them right away and that's why Wetmore missed the boat. That's the way this "leadership principle" works out when the club doesn't pick its own leaders."

Man knows four tastes—sweet, salty, bitter and sour.

The taste buds are on the tongue, about 3,000 of them.

The sweet taste is perceived quickest of all.

The taste buds reacting to sweets are on the tongue's tip.

Salty things are tasted before the sour or bitter.

Tasting can be regulated.

Warmth is a stimulant to the taste buds; cold dulls them.

Warm coffee requires less sugar than cold coffee.

Ice cream is never too sweet as its cold deadens taste.

Rubbing the tongue with ice aids in taking bitter medicines.

The taste of food adds much to a meal's esthetic value.

Life would be flat without taste.

Legion To Sponsor New Citizens Day

Will Co-operate With National Government In Welcoming
New Citizens

Preliminary plans for a "New Citizens Day" to be held by the Perry S. Gaston Post, No. 343, American Legion were announced today by Attorney Clarence A. Patterson, chairman of the Naturalization Committee. The day will be held some time in June in conjunction with similar services all over the country.

W. W. Wiggins, divisional director of the Naturalization Service has informed Mr. Patterson that the plan now is to hold but one service per year and in this service all new citizens taken in during the various times of the year will be welcomed.

The Perry S. Gaston Post sponsored a New Citizens Day earlier in the year when all newly admitted citizens were presented with their certificates. This will be done again next June.

MRS. FERGUSON IS HOSTESS TO GROUP

HARBOR CLUB NAMES FLOWER AT MEETING

Mrs. D. L. Ferguson, of Sheridan avenue, welcomed to her home Monday night the members of the Ministers' Wives Club and Mrs. Carl Anderson, wife of the Salvation Army leader here, who became a member in the course of the evening. Mrs. C. N. Moore was the co-hostess of the occasion.

The program, as is the custom at these pleasant gatherings, was of an informal, friendly nature, and consisted largely of conversation and fancy work. The ladies enjoyed very much the several piano selections played by Julia Ferguson, daughter of the hostess. Lovely refreshments were served in the later evening.

Plans for the annual dinner party in January are to be made by a committee of three, Mrs. Ferguson, Mrs. G. S. Bennett and Mrs. Chester T. R. Yeates, it is announced. There will be no December meeting.

N. O. Club Meeting

Mrs. Charles Thompson entertained Saturday evening at her home on Hamilton street for associates of the N. O. club. Special guests were James Logue, Harry Cook and Frank Kelly.

Card games were enjoyed and the winners were Mrs. Oscar Harper and Mrs. Mae McFarland. Names were drawn for a Christmas party. Light refreshments were served and Mrs. Sarah Logue was the aid.

Mr. and Mrs. Harry Cook will entertain December 2 at this home on O'Brien avenue.

Dinner Party

Ladies club members had their first bi-annual dinner party in the home of Miss Rose DeGennaro Wayne street Saturday evening.

Dinner was served by candlelight and a pink and white color scheme was carried out. Nick Calvane was the toastmaster. Games and dancing followed the after dinner pastimes. Prize were awarded to Mary Colella, James Pedro, Anthony Warren and E. Gene Lonetti.

The hostess was aided throughout the evening by the co-hostess, Miss Inez Calvane.

The petunia was selected as the club flower, when Harbor Garden club members met in the home of Mrs. Anna Houston of the Harbor, Monday evening.

Roll call was answered with each member telling what they were thankful for and a report of the forum meeting, held at the Cathedral, was given by Mrs. C. O. Matthews. An interesting article on "Chrysanthemums" was presented by Mrs. H. F. Barber.

At the close, lunch was served by the hostess, aided by Mrs. C. O. Matthews.

The next meeting on Tuesday evening, December 19, will be in the form of a Christmas party at the home of Mrs. H. W. Byler.

L. D. K. Society

Associates of the Loyal Daughters of the King Missionary society of the Third United Presbyterian church met in the home of Mrs. Mabel Huffman, Randolph street, Monday evening, with Mrs. Irvin Huffman as co-hostess.

Mrs. Howard Burdette was in charge of the consecration service and Mrs. Raymond Bates gave the mission study in the form of a book review.

A new member, Mary Virginia Roberts, was welcomed into the club. Plans were discussed for a Christmas party to be held on December 18 in the home of Christine Bates, Beckford street, at which time Mrs. Clarence Boston will be co-hostess.

An informal social time was enjoyed later, with Betty Craig in charge. Dainty refreshments were served by the hostess, assisted by her sister, Mrs. I. Huffman.

P. H. C. Anniversary

All is ready for the celebration of the 53rd anniversary of the local Protected Home Circle, Wednesday night at eight o'clock in the I. O. O. F. hall.

Supreme officers, including the supreme president, S. H. Hadley, of Sharon, will be present. Semi-annual nomination and election of local officers will take place in the course of the evening. A lunch will be served.

HOSPITAL SEWING IN CHARGE OF TWO GROUPS

Members of The Reading Circle of which Mrs. I. M. Henley is president, and the Reading Circle of 91, with Mrs. Ralph Reed, president, will be hostesses at the bi-weekly sewing on Wednesday morning, at Jameson Memorial Hospital, in the solarium.

Sewing of garments and needed articles will be in progress from 9 until 12 o'clock, and the two clubs extend a cordial invitation to other women interested, to attend and share their services.

Cutters for the day will be Mrs. Fred Sontum and Mrs. Norman A. Martin.

Kings Daughters Class

Kings Daughters class members of the First Methodist church will meet Thursday in the church at noon for a luncheon party. An interesting program has been prepared.

Playmatt Club Party

Playmatt club members enjoyed a theatre-dinner party Monday evening to celebrate their second anniversary. Featuring a luncheon was the serving of a chicken supper in a downtown tea room following the movie party.

Dinner 7, Mrs. Tille Lewis will entertain at her home on Butz street.

Gentsy-Alexander

Before an ebullient altar of ferns and flowers in St. Nicholas church, Mrs. Anna Gentsy, daughter of Mrs. Barbara Gentsy, of 1207 Scioto street, became the bride of Stanley Alexander, son of Joseph Alexander, 1305 Scioto street.

Rev. Fr. Michael Hraber, officiated at 10 o'clock, using the single ring service at the ceremony, which was largely attended by friends and relatives.

The bride was attired in a white brocaded gown, long of mignon sleeves. She wore a long veil with pearl crown and carried calla lilies. Her only jewelry was a gold cross, a gift of the groom.

Miss Edna Alexander was the maid of honor and George Gentsy served the groom as best man. Bridesmaids were Bernice Kusner, Louise Kicos and Ann Krupa and those ushering were Mike Pollock, Mike Bodner and Steve Rivarrik.

Also attending the young couple were Mrs. P. Gentsy and John Pollock.

A wedding dinner was served in the afternoon at a local hall, and later a reception and supper was held.

Mr. and Mrs. Alexander are residing at 1307 Scioto street. Mr. Alexander is an employee of the National Radiator Company.

Guests attended the wedding from New Jersey, New York, Pittsburgh, and Aliquippa.

Lightner-Cunningham

Miss Rotha Lightner, daughter of Mr. and Mrs. Raymond Lightner, North Liberty, became the bride of Howard Cunningham, son of Mr. and Mrs. William Cunningham of Plainville, on Friday, Nov. 24, at the ceremony performed at 11 o'clock by Rev. Duncan at his residence in Mercer.

The couple's attendants were Miss Helen Black of Oil City and James Lightner, brother of the bride, who was best man.

After the ceremony the bridal party returned to the home of the bride's parents, where a wedding dinner was served to 17 guests. Pink and white decorations were used.

After a short wedding trip Mr. and Mrs. Cunningham will reside in Grove City. The bride is a graduate of Grove City high school and has been employed by the Cooper Bessemer corporation. Mr. Cunningham is a graduate of Plainville high school in the class of 34 and is an employee of the Hydrihl company of Pennsylvania, at Rochester.

House Guests Return Home

Miss Jessie Davis of Norwood, Philadelphia, and Mrs. R. C. Teasdale and son, Russell, of Mt. Lebanon, have returned home after having been guests of their aunt and uncle, Mr. and Mrs. J. C. Lewis, Edison avenue.

On Thanksgiving Day, they also had families of their two sons as dinner guests. Mr. and Mrs. N. H. Lewis and their children, Mrs. Clyde Wells of Cochranton, O., and Mr. and Mrs. James H. Lewis of McKeesport.

Before coming here, Miss Davis attended the Thanksgiving ceremonies at Culver Military school with her nephew, Robert D. Teasdale, a student there.

Sauerkraut Supper

Daniel Lefure auxiliary enjoyed a sauerkraut supper in the home of Mrs. Nancy VanHorn, Milton street, Monday at 6:30 p. m., prepared and served by Mrs. VanHorn and Mrs. Emma Wood.

The time after dinner was passed with bingo and other games. Tentative plans for a card party, in interest of the Battery B monument, were made. Nomination and election of officers will take place at the next business meeting, December 11, in the Legion Home.

Section A. Y. L. B.

Members of Section A. of the Y. L. B. class of the Third United Presbyterian church will meet in the home of Mrs. M. R. Bates, Beckford street for an all day quilting on Friday.

Early Trolley Days Recalled At Rotary

Tom Moore, Traction Chief, Relates System's History To Club

Thomas C. Moore, superintendent of the New Castle Electric Street Railway company, yesterday reviewed before New Castle Rotarians and their guests the exciting history back of the city's trolley system. He revealed facts long forgotten and others never known. Moore, a Rotarian, was giving a classification talk. And it was one of the most interesting classification addresses heard in months.

The club heard Moore in The Castleton. Fred L. Taylor, club president, was in charge.

JR. C. OF C. TOLD OF POLICY SHIFT

Decision To Intensify Community Work Disclosed Last Night

New Castle's Junior Chamber of Commerce last night perfected plans for inaugurating a new "intensified activity program" which its leaders have been developing in informal conferences during recent weeks.

President John P. Brinton told the membership in The Castleton that the plan, boiled down to essentials, will mean "the concentration of junior chamber efforts, rather than a distribution of efforts over a wide range of civic undertakings."

He said the plan is to major on selected projects, rather than to spread out its interests among a score or more of committees.

The new policy has been taking shape in board sessions and was fully explained to members' last night. It will bring a complete readjustment in junior chamber work.

Last night the junior chamber urged that New Castle airport facilities be further expanded. Officers indicated Col. Clarence Chamberlin, world noted aviator, here on a visit, had told them the expansion seems wise.

The organization pledged its support to the "give-a-job" drive of Governor Arthur H. James.

Clark Reveals Why Red Cross Needs Are Greater Today

Norman E. Clark, chairman of the 1940 roll call for the Lawrence County Chapter of the Red Cross, today pointed out various ways in which the present European conflict has increased the responsibilities of the organization, locally as well as nationally.

For one thing, in all relief work, the American Red Cross has co-operated closely with the national Red Cross in carrying on its work in various countries; also with the League of Red Cross Societies and the International Red Cross Committee in Geneva. By so doing, much time has been saved and prompt results have been obtained.

Situation In Rumania

Cables from Ernest J. Swift, chairman of the American Red Cross delegation investigating conditions of Polish refugees, reveal that there are about 14,500 civilian refugees and 23,000 interned soldiers in Rumania. The Rumanian government has assumed responsibility for the interned soldiers. It has designated the Rumanian Red Cross to supervise relief for civilians.

Soldiers and civilians need shirts, underwear, blankets, bedding, shoes and medicine. The Rumanian Red Cross is meeting some of the needs from reserve supplies. On recommendation of Mr. Swift, the American Red Cross has already shipped quite a few supplies.

To supplement shipments of relief supplies, being made by the American Red Cross from the United States, funds have been remitted by the American Red Cross to the League of Red Cross Societies to cover immediate urgent needs of Polish refugees in Rumania. From these funds, $2,000 has been spent for the purchase of medical supplies and $5,000 has been given to the Rumanian Red Cross for general relief work among the refugees.

Refugees In Hungary

Clark pointed out that Polish refugees in Hungary number approximately 35,000 soldiers, 5,000 officers and 10,000 civilians, including 3,200 women and 300 children. The government requires all agencies to work under the supervision of the Hungarian Red Cross or the Hungarian-Polish Society. The Red Cross is aiding both soldiers and civilians, the Hungarian-Polish Society is only civilians.

There is a need for clothing, underwear, blankets, bedding, medicines and shoes. To cover immediate needs of Polish refugees in Hungary, funds were remitted to the League of Red Cross Societies by the American Red Cross. From such funds, the league gave $3,700 to the Hungarian Red Cross to buy warm clothes; $2,200 to purchase medical supplies and $5,000 for other relief needs. An additional $10,000 is being sent to the Hungarian Red Cross.

Refugees In Lithuania

Refugees in Lithuania number about 14,000 interned soldiers, and 2,000 to 3,000 civilians. There is also a large number of civilian refugees in and about Vilna, now part of Lithuania. From funds advanced by the American Red Cross, the League of Red Cross Societies allotted to the Lithuanian Red Cross $3,700 for warm clothing; $700 for medical supplies and cash of $1,100 to meet immediate emergencies.

Latvia Situation

Reports estimate about 2,000 refugees in Latvia of whom 1,600 are interned soldiers. The League of Red Cross Societies has made an allotment to the Latvian Red Cross of $600 for warm clothing and $100 for medical supplies from funds advanced by the American Red Cross.

The American Red Cross sent the League of Red Cross Societies $25,000 with which to purchase medical and hospital supplies in Italy and Switzerland to be distributed by the German Red Cross with the stipulation that they will be used exclusively in Poland for the benefit of sick and wounded Polish citizens.

At present, representatives of the International Red Cross committee are in Berlin in consultation with the German Red Cross and other officials, with the view of making necessary arrangements to assure that these, and all future supplies, will be used exclusively for relief of the Polish people.

"This summarizes the latest information as to the work being done by the American Red Cross. The above explanation is based on an informal report by Norman H. Davis, chairman of the American Red Cross," Clark said.

Mouth Of Sewer In Shenango River Is Being Cleaned

Force Of Approximately 150 Men Employed At Task, Engineer Reports

One hundred and fifty men are at work at the mouth of the storm sewer which discharges into the Shenango river south of the Grant street bridge according to City Engineer Glenn R. Throop.

The storm sewer which runs from the State street hill section collects water from Crawford Run and other places.

Upon some occasions the mouth of the sewer has become clogged and caused water to back up in the Grant and State street section.

Some years ago the dirt was removed from the mouth of the sewer so it could discharge properly into the river.

The dirt is now being cleaned away. The men are performing the work with pick and shovel.

Fast First-Aid... less than a penny!

EVEN A LITTLE CUT can become worrisome if left open... exposed to dirt and grime.

Why take unnecessary chances when, after proper treatment, Band-Aid is so handy... so easy to apply?

Band-Aid is made by Johnson & Johnson, world's largest makers of surgical dressings. Ever since we introduced it we have constantly striven to lower its price... and make it available to more and more people.

Today, these adhesive bandages cost you only about half a cent each.

In fact, ALL Johnson & Johnson Red Cross products cost only a fraction of their price of years ago.

Now everybody, from the humblest homes up, can enjoy the protection of Johnson & Johnson products.

Croton "Boys' Town" Fame Is Spreading

Recreational Club Finds City Government Plan Popular One

Croton's own "municipality within a municipality" went right on functioning in high gear today, with "Mayor" Rudolph Rubels and his assisting officials looking for more constructive things to do.

The new boys' club, operated on the same governmental plan as a city, stresses recreational projects. Ping pong, checker and basketball teams have already been organized. John Rubels, who founded it, said.

Officers with "Mayor" Rudolph Rubels are: Treasurer, Domenick Manzo; councilmen, Ralph Pia, Frank Cook, Patsy DeFrank and Robert Padula; advisory board, Anthony DeLorenzo; Joe Malley, Rudolph Moraldi, Daniel Malley; judge, James Valentino; district attorney, Vincent Cook; city controller, Joseph Cook; chief of police, Richard Rubels; and chief of detectives, Amie Zarlingo.

News Of Events Of World In Pictures

Steel Heiress Weds

The former Audrey Phipps, steel heiress, is pictured with her husband, Philip D. Holden, wealthy socialite, after the nuptials in Trinity Episcopal Church, Roslyn, L. I. The bride is granddaughter of the late Henry Phipps, who was partner of the steel baron, Andrew Carnegie.

Mother, 18, in Holdup Ring

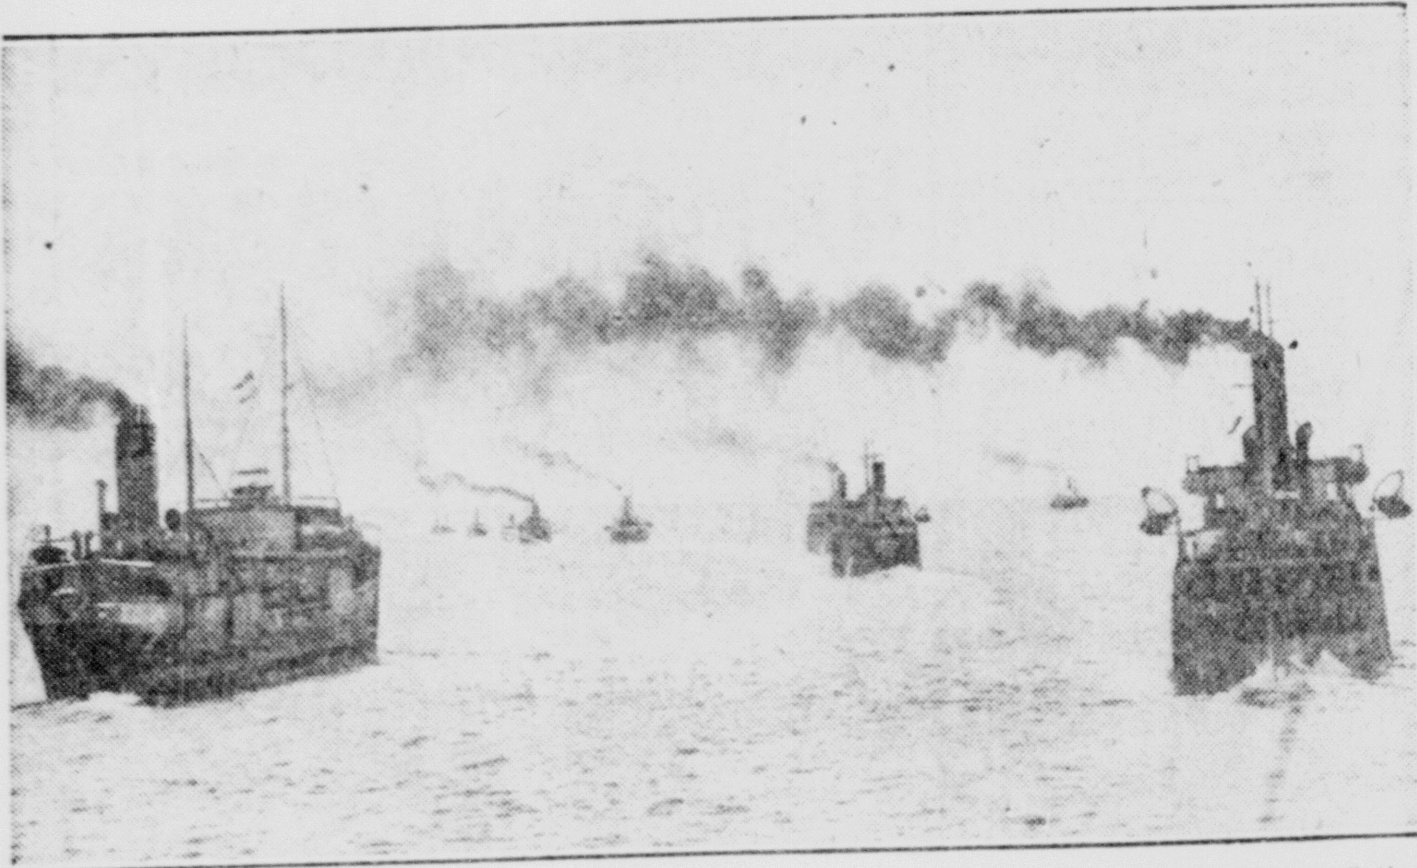

Mrs. Josephine Marino, 18, enters police van in New York after holding up a grocery store, according to police. She allegedly committed the holdup with her brother-in-law while her husband and two children were asleep at home. Two other men are implicated in the petty stickup ring. (Central Press)

Belgians Dig Against Nazis

Belgian soldiers, who obviously feel the cold, start work digging a trench through a railroad siding near the German border. American doughboys probably would have helped themselves to a little of the coal and kept warm. Leaves of all Belgian army officers have been cancelled, in fear of German invasion, and a rationing system is planned for the population. (Central Press)

British Merchantmen Convoyed to Safety

Passed by the British censors, this picture shows British merchantmen convoyed by warships off the British coast. On each ship lookouts scan the waters for signs of subs and mines. Germany has avoided possible loss of submarines by sowing the paths of convoys with mines wherever possible. (Central Press)

Kuhn's "Golden Angel" on Stand

Mrs. Florence Camp, West Coast blonde, is pictured in New York court after testifying as a state witness against Fritz Kuhn, Bund fuhrer on trial for larceny. Recipient of many love letters from Kuhn, she identified a diamond ring as one he gave her. (Central Press)

Troop Prepares For Inspection

Federal Inspection Will Be Made By Third Corps
Area Representative
Next Week

NEW MOUNTS ARE RECEIVED HERE

Troop K. 103rd Cavalry, is drilling intensively and taking stock of all equipment in preparation for the annual Federal inspection which will take place at the armory on Frank avenue, Friday evening, December 8.

Word has just been received by Capt. George F. Seyfert that the inspection will be in charge of the Inspector General's department of the Third Corps Area at Baltimore, Md. It will probably be a little more critical than in the past because of present conditions.

Three new mounts were delivered to the troop by truck Monday evening, having come here from Sunbury, Pa., where a carload of horses was recently received for use of the Pennsylvania Cavalry units. The troop here is still one mount shy, however, as one horse had to be destroyed early this fall after the requisition had been placed. They now have 31 horses.

Sunday, the troop had a combat problem, which took place in the quarry of the Lehigh Portland Cement Company, on the County Line road. During the problem, 3,000 rounds were fired and a high percentage of hits was recorded, the problem being carried out in a most satisfactory manner, officers of the troop stated.

The troop is drilling twice weekly on Monday and Friday evenings, in compliance with the recent order by the Adjutant General's office and are reaching a high state of efficiency.

A quarrel is plain stupid unless the thing you quarrel about is more important to you than your marriage.

'CANYON' DRAFTS BESET SHORTEST AIRMAIL ROUTE

(International News Service)
PHILADELPHIA, Nov. 28—Philadelphia's high buildings and cross-currents make flying the world's shortest airmail route — post office to Camden, N. J., airport — a hazardous task.

Pilot John Miller flies his mail-laden autogiro only six miles on each flight — but landing his spindly craft takes considerable skill. He takes off and lands on five round trips daily from the five-story, 350-foot-long roof of Philadelphia's mid-city post office on the banks of the Schuylkill river.

Since Miller began flying the route several months ago, he canceled nine trips because of wind and weather. He flies at low and 300 feet when fog blankets the city, experiencing worst difficulty when winds roar upward from midtown "canyons."

Annual Meeting Now In Session

Agricultural Extension Association Members Meeting At First U. P. Church

MANY SHARE IN DAY'S PROGRAM

Members of the Lawrence County Agricultural Extension Association convened in the First U. P. church this morning at 10 o'clock for the annual meeting of the association, when a splendid program was opened by local farm residents, discussion taking place on a number of important problems of interest to Lawrence County farmers.

In addition to the oldsters, the work of the 4-H Club boys and girls was demonstrated with a clothing judging demonstration by Virginia Rudzik, of Pulaski township; and a discussion of 4-H Clubs and the Leadership School by Robert Walton, of Wayne township and Robert Moose, of Wilmington township.

C. E. Martin, of Scott township, discussed cover crops following corn. Lunch problems were presented by Mrs. J. E. Carr, of Washington township and erosion control work was discussed by R. J. Drake of Scott township. William Nesbit and James W. Gilmore, of Little Beaver township, gave a discussion on hybrid corn varieties adaptable to Lawrence County farms.

These were followed by the reports of the extension representatives Harold R. McCulloch on agriculture, and Miss Julia C. Markie on home economics.

The afternoon program includes a playlet by the Union Four-H Club Girls; a discussion on buying shirts and ties by Mrs. Elizabeth Martin of State College; an address on "The individual and the crowd" by Rev. W. V. McLean, pastor of the First Methodist church of this city; and a resume of Agricultural extension service in the state by H. G. Niesley of State College.

President N. E. Sampson of Wilmington township, presided at the day's sessions.

Dr. Dafoe's Column On The Quintuplets And The Care Of Your Children

(Copyright 1939, King Features Syndicate, Inc.)

DR. DAFOE CITES TWO TYPES OF DANGEROUS JAUNDICE

One of the complications that attended the Dicke quintuplets at birth was the development of jaundice. All five had it, but fortunately it was just the normal jaundice of the new-born child.

I told you yesterday how this jaundice occurs, and I stressed the fact that it is harmless. But with the quintuplets, premature by two months and rickety, the development of the jaundice didn't help as any.

They began to show evidences of it when they were two or three days old and they kept getting more and more yellow until by the end of the fifth day they were pretty badly colored. Even on the tenth day there were some traces of the jaundice left.

Usually this form of jaundice begins to clear by the fifth day. There are times, however, when we find that even this normal, or so-called physiological, jaundice of the new-born won't start on schedule but will wait until the child is a week or more old and then hang on for some weeks.

In the majority of cases there should be no worry on the part of the parents over this discoloration of the skin. However, there are circumstances under which one must consider jaundice as being very severe. I may say we watched with great care to make sure that what the quintuplets didn't turn out to be the more serious form of the malady.

If the baby is born with jaundice, or if jaundice develops within the first few hours of life, then it is likely in this case that the child will have a bad time. If the discoloration doesn't appear until the regular time—about the second day—and then becomes deeper and deeper in color, parents should call a doctor so that he may be on the alert for a more dangerous disease. If the jaundice does not appear until the baby is two or three weeks old and then becomes deeper in color over a period of weeks, then the child's prognosis is bad.

There are two conditions which must be differentiated from the ordinary jaundice of the new-born child. The first, called Icterus Gravis, appears to be the same process as in the normal jaundice except that the malady goes wild. Instead of only the unnecessary red blood cells being destroyed, it goes on and on, utterly destroying these red cells.

Icterus Gravis usually comes on a little earlier than the normal jaundice. Of course it is more severe, too, and the baby is badly discolored. Frequently this form of the disease is fatal. In bad cases only heroic measures help any. For instance a series of blood transfusions will occasionally save the child.

The other serious form jaundice sometimes takes involves the obliteration of the bile ducts which permit the bile to be carried off into the intestines. When these ducts aren't present or are blocked, then the bile pours directly into the blood stream. An operation may save the life of the child.

DELAWARE RIVER TUNNEL FEASIBLE

(International News Service) WILMINGTON, Del., Nov. 28.—Test borings made in the bed of the Delaware river—showing no unexpected outcroppings of rocks or other difficulties—indicate feasibility of the proposed automobile tunnel between Wilmington and Deepwater, N. J.

John Meigs, Philadelphia engineer who made the tests, said that present plans call for a 7,800 foot long tunnel containing single lane traffic in either direction. An automobile and truck survey indicated some 4,000,000 machines would use the under-river highway annually, he said.

MANY NEVER SUSPECT CAUSE OF BACKACHES

This Old Treatment Often Brings Happy Relief

Many sufferers relieve nagging backache quickly, once they discover that the real cause of their trouble may be tired kidneys. The kidneys are Nature's chief way of taking the excess acids and waste out of the blood. They help most people pass about 3 pints a day. When disorder of kidney function permits poisonous matter to remain in your blood, it may cause nagging backache, rheumatic pains, leg pains, loss of pep and energy, getting up nights, swelling, puffiness under the eyes, headaches and dizziness. Frequent or scanty passages with smarting and burning sometimes show there is something wrong with your kidneys or bladder.

Don't wait! Ask your druggist for Doan's Pills, used successfully by millions for over 40 years. They give happy relief and will help the 15 million of kidney tubes flush out poisonous waste from your blood. Get Doan's Pills.

Mrs. Roosevelt Not To Be Called By Dies Committee

President's Wife Would Testify

But Committee Has No Intention Of Summoning Her As Witness

APPEARANCE ONLY AT OWN REQUEST

(International News Service)
WASHINGTON, Nov. 28.—Appearance of Mrs. Franklin D. Roosevelt before the Dies committee seemed exceedingly unlikely today as members hastened to say that they had not contemplated placing her on the witness stand.

While Mrs. Roosevelt told reporters that she would be willing to testify before the committee if asked, committee members indicated that she would be invited only if she wanted to appear.

Follows Controversy
Mrs. Roosevelt's declaration that she was willing to discuss any subject "in the interest of truth" followed a controversy over the alleged activity of communists in the American youth congress. Her name was mentioned in committee testimony last summer for entertaining officers of the youth congress at a tea.

The committee was expected to temporarily suspend its investigation into communism in the educational field today to hear William Nowell, Detroit negro, detail his part in organizing negroes for the communist party. Nowell, said by committee members to have been in charge of organization of negroes under direct orders from Moscow also is reported to have been active in the trade union field.

The committee soon will make public a series of reports by Maj. Hampden Wilson, its investigator, on communism in American universities and public schools. Rep. Starnes (D-Alabama), in charge of the committee's educational inquiry said that the reports dealt with specific activities in many universities and city schools.

News And Views From Pennsylvania Capital

(International News Service)

HARRISBURG, Pa., Nov. 28.—The blackball trial of Democratic state Chairman David L. Lawrence shows evidence of becoming one of the lengthiest of its kind. A few bets are being made by trial observers that the case will not go to the jury before Christmas. The trial is expected to increase in interest as it proceeds, with such figures as former Gov. George H. Earle and ex-attorney general Charles J. Margiotti making the witness stand.

The former secretary of the commonwealth in the Earle cabinet is a quiet figure as he sits with his counsel and listens attentively to proceedings. Somberly but modestly dressed, he looks straight at the prosecution's witnesses as they testify. Often he will turn to some member of the press who sits nearby and smilingly converse with him. During court recesses he animatedly discusses the testimony with his counsel and with newspapermen who have known him for years. Lawrence is expected to take the stand in his own defense shortly after the prosecution ends its case.

Whether former Governor Earle will be appointed United States minister to Canada still seems to be an unsolved question. Reports have been current for some time that President Roosevelt will offer Earle an interim appointment pending the return of congress in January. At his Warm Springs, Ga., retreat, however, the president said appointments to fill existing vacancies in the diplomatic service had not been determined yet.

Construction of the Pennsylvania Turnpike, largest construction job of its type in the nation, is accompanied by a toll of death. Large construction projects which do not have fatal mishaps are rare. To date, 17 workmen have lost their lives on the Pennsylvania project, scheduled to open next June, which will link Harrisburg and Pittsburgh with a 160-mile superhighway.

Gov. Arthur H. James, and U. S. Sen. James J. Davis, apparently will head Pennsylvania's delegation of 72 to the Republican National convention. James and Davis will attend as delegates-at-large, of which there will be four. The governor and a Republican senator usually attend, former Governor Pinchot being the notable exception. Pinchot, always at odds with the regular organization, was twice snubbed.

Application for the incorporation of the Clifton Flat Mission, which was to have been heard by Judge Walter W. Braham, was continued today until January 3, 1940. The application was made several weeks ago but objections were raised. It is understood that members of the mission are likely to reach an agreement when the case comes up again.

Judge W. Walter Braham has made an order changing the name of Yrjo Albert Pirkkala to George Albert Berkley. When the petition was originally presented it was stated that the reason for the change was a matter of convenience. There were no judgments against Pirkkala and no objections to the change of name.

Fifty-three instruments of all kinds were entered at the register and recorder's office last week. There were twenty-seven deeds and eleven mortgages. Six of the mortgages, totaling $22,500, were mostly on Ellwood City property. Three mortgages, for a total of $9,500 were given to banks and two, totaling $3,850 were given to individuals.

Judge W. Walter Braham has granted Virginia Panunzi, a release from her parole obligations, she having paid the cost. She was placed on parole on October 8, 1938, with the understanding that she go to the home of her mother in Warren, O. She has obtained employment in Warren and it was inconvenient for her to visit the parole office here, was the reason given for asking the release.

Expense accounts of candidates at the recent election, filed at the county commissioners' office are as follows: William R. Walton, county commissioner, $181; Earl R. Wimer, county treasurer, $233; and Thomas McCullough, road supervisor, less than fifty dollars. There are still some candidates who have not yet filed their expense accounts.

Lawrence County Farms And Farmers

By H. R. McCulloch, County Agent

Lawrence County Farms and Farmers are urged to take the most important step in the winter flocking of their sheep.

Seventy-five per cent of the difficulties at lambing time can be avoided by keeping the ewe flock in a thrifty condition over winter. Feeding the right ration and giving the ewes proper care will result in the production of strong, vigorous lambs.

Plenty of exercise, fresh water and salt should be available at all times. These are essential to successful sheep husbandry. One excellent ration may be made by mixing 4 parts oats and 1 part bran and feeding with corn silage and legume hay. Another consists of 4 parts oats, 2 parts corn, 1 part bran, 1 part clover, which is fed with mixed hay.

Corn silage or roots are a valuable addition to the winter breeding ewe ration. It is advisable to feed a good legume hay at least once daily. Addition of bran or oil meal to the ration is necessary when the hay is fed.

It is better to feed the ewes over a long period than to feed them heavier on grain for a short period. It is best to feed the ewes so that they gain from 8 to 15 pounds from the time they go into the barn in the fall until the lambs are dropped in the spring. Drenching them now for internal parasites will give the ewe a chance to build up their bodies before winter.

AVOID DYSENTERY LOSSES BY SUGAR FEEDING BEES

Because most honey gathered during the summer and fall is of poor quality, it is suggested that beekeepers feed their bees a sugar syrup any time the temperature goes above 55 degrees Fahrenheit. Dysentery losses may be high if bees must depend on low grade honey this winter.

Ten pounds of sugar made into a thick syrup is enough for each colony housed in a one-story hive.

As an additional precaution against dysentery add one-half teaspoon of cream of tartar to each 10 pounds of sugar.

An excellent feeder can be made from an ordinary half-gallon friction top pail.

Merely punch about 20 small holes in the center of the lid. Fill the pail with syrup and place it upside down over the opening of the hive. The bees will run out and down the syrup.

The best time to feed is in early evening. In warm weather the bees will remove a half-gallon of sugar syrup in 24 hours. If it remains in the feeder for several days, the bees will not eat it. It is better to feed a good legume hay at least once daily.

complicates furniture arrangement, according to Miss Markle. There is no set rule requiring an equal margin on all four sides, but the allowance at the two ends and two sides are the same. An 18-inch margin is usually a safe measure. There are standard rug sizes but special sizes can be obtained in some patterns.

In long, narrow rooms, two rugs of the same size which meet in the middle are generally most suitable, or three rugs, a large one in the center and a smaller one for each end may be used.

In addition to having the correct size, we want our living room to have appearance and quality, she continues. In the dining room, quality comes first because of the definite path traveled around the table, the likelihood of extra soil from foods, and the scraping of the chairs.

Quality is a vital factor. Good quality gives years of satisfying use and is cheaper in the long run than the cheap, poorly constructed rug. Today we can buy pads to put under rugs that give a luxurious appearance to moderately priced rugs and adds years to the life of the rug.

Carpeting from wall to wall is widely used today. This may be because of the efficiency of the vacuum cleaner and partly because of the appearance in the room. It may be more economical than a rug when floors are in poor condition, she concludes.

NEW FLOWERS GIVEN ALL AMERICA RATING

Every year outstanding new flowers are given "all America" ratings. From the 84 entries in the 1939 trials four were selected for the silver medal awards, four for the bronze and five were given honorable mention.

Petunias, riding on a crest of popularity, were most numerous among the entries and earned several top awards. Glow petunia was chosen as the most outstanding of those entered in this year's trials. It is a dwarf, compact, bell-shaped plant. The flowers are bright, rosy red with lighter throats. It is a free-flowering all-season variety.

Cream Star petunia also earned a silver award. It is an extremely free bloomer all season. The flowers are creamy white, bluntly star-shaped, with a star of creamy coloring. It is a dwarf bedding plant.

Third best in the ranking was Midget Blue ageratum. It is only three to four inches tall, but has a dense, 12 inch spread. It's azure blue flowers are produced freely. Midget Blue is considered the most compact, dwarf ageratum developed so far and is considered highly valuable for edging rock gardens and pots.

Spring-flowering Rose Pink Sweet Pea came in for fourth honors. It matures between the early and late flowering classes. This new type is tall and produces long stems. Rose Pink, in color, is between the Early Giant Rose and Early Shirley Temple. The colors are large and waxy, with the dominant color on a white background.

SELECT CARPET OR RUG ACCORDING TO NEEDS

Do you buy a rug just for a floor covering? Remember it is a large piece of the background against which almost every article in the room is posed.

Let's think of the cost of the rug in relation to the cost of furnishings says Miss Julia Markle, home economic extension representative of Lawrence County. A rug which is too luxurious makes the room look shabby, while a shabby rug destroys all beauty that comes near it, she points out. Consider how the color and design of the rug will blend in with the upholstery and hangings.

It also is necessary to consider the size of the covering—whether it is a carpet extending from wall to wall, a room size rug, or several small scatter rugs. Each type has certain advantages so that the decision will hinge on the preference, requirements of the room, and perhaps the condition of the floor.

A room size rug should not reveal a wide margin of bare floor as it makes the room appear smaller and smaller.

Many Varieties Of Game Feed On Refuse From Cider Mills, It Is Found

(International News Service)

HARRISBURG, Nov. 28.—Cider makers over the state can be well-fare workers for wild life, according to Pennsylvania game officials, who are soliciting the co-operation of all cider makers in the commonwealth in an effort to have the pressed apples or "pummies" at cider mills hauled into the woods and scattered about for wild life.

As one example of such co-operation the commission cited a report from one of its game protectors who stated that he had hauled more than four tons of apple "pummies" into the woods and that they had been eaten by many different species of wild life.

It has been found that where these have been thrown in piles in the woods, the deer, during winter, will paw the frozen material and eat it. Rabbits likewise are fond of them. Of course birds feed on the seeds which are available.

Commission officials claim that it has also been reported in several cases where the material has been hauled out and scattered, the result has been a nice thicket of apple trees. These, of course, make good seedlings for transplanting, and the "pummies" are also available for wild life, the same as where placed in piles.

War Veterans Bound By Same Limits Of Age

(International News Service)

PHILADELPHIA, Nov. 28.—Under a state supreme court ruling, war veterans who apply for police jobs today were bound by the same age limits that apply to other candidates.

The high tribunal upheld the judgment of the Erie county common pleas court which held unconstitutional a section of the civil service law exempting war veterans from the usual 21 to 35-year age limit. Suit was brought in Erie by William John Carney, police applicant who protests preference given to 15 war veterans whose ages range from 37 to 44.

Army And Navy Teams To Clash Next Saturday

President Roosevelt Will Witness Annual Classic At Philadelphia Stadium

BOTH CAPTAINS ARE GOOD FRIENDS

By FRANK J. BURKE
International News Service Sports Writer

PHILADELPHIA, Nov. 28.—The land and sea forces of the United States will parade their football might before their commander-in-chief and 100,000 other citizens next Saturday, when the Army and Navy clash in the "battle of Kankakee" at Philadelphia Municipal stadium.

For the first time since he entered office, President Roosevelt will witness the classic. He, like most of the residents of Little Kankakee, Ill., will be "strictly neutral."

Little Kankakee has a monopoly on this year's battle because the captains of both Army and Navy are its native sons. Allen Bergner, of the Clinton avenue Bergners, is captain of the Annapolis Jugger-naut, while Harry Stella, of the South Osborne street clan, heads the West Pointers. Both are tackles and both will be graduated next June as officers in the armed forces of Uncle Sam.

Typical Americans

The stories of Bergner and Stella are typically American. Both are the sons of immigrant fathers who came to this country virtually penniless—one to become a carpenter and the other an engineer. Bergner's father, Alfred, came from Bremen, Germany, and Stella's father, Silvio, was born near Naples, Italy.

Both captains won notice for their athletic prowess in the same high school. The 220-pound Bergner outshone the slighter Stella in football, but the latter emerged as a better basketball player and now is ranked as an all-American tackle.

The coincidence of the captains' home town, however, adds just a tiny facet of color to a spectacle unparalleled in the world of sports.

Kentucky Hopes To Trip Vols In Battle Thursday

Would Like To Upset Unbeaten Tennessee Grid Team Thursday

DUQUESNE WILL BATTLE DETROIT

By LAWTON CARVER
International News Service Sports Editor

NEW YORK, Nov. 28.—With the Big Ten's football season over and many of the major eleven's closed, the country through with competition the rest of the schedule for this year has been skeletonized almost to the vanishing point, but not yet obliterated altogether and on Thursday and Saturday there will be at least a few games of national import. Although it won't be a thing insofar as any standings in title races are concerned, the Army-Navy encounter at Philadelphia Saturday will be the highlight of the waning season. No other game will be able to match it in color and tradition and general interest. However, several others will be more important from a sectional standpoint.

A headliner for Thursday will bring Tennessee up against a Kentucky eleven. The two teams have finished with its perfect slate and Duquesne will wind up on Saturday against Detroit. That completes a glance into the future insofar as the race toward meager national honors is concerned.

Other standouts include Thursday's matchup of Alabama vs. Vanderbilt, Auburn vs. Florida, Arkansas vs. Tulsa, Colorado vs. Denver, unbeaten and untied San Jose State vs. Drake, California vs. Washington State, Virginia U. vs. North Carolina, Washington U. (St. Louis) vs. St. Louis.

On Saturday engagements drawing top billing are Baylor vs. Rice, Boston college vs. Holy Cross, Stanford vs. Dartmouth, Georgia Tech vs. Georgia, Tulane vs. Louisiana State, Southern California vs. Washington, Southern Methodist vs. Texas Christian.

Then a week later, on December 9, everything except the post-season fireworks will be dispensed with as Tennessee plays its finale with Auburn S. M. U. takes on Rice, and Southern California makes what probably will be its last stand before tackling Tennessee (?) in the Rose Bowl. In its season finale Southern Cal will tackle U. C. L. A.

"Smokey Robinson, Oil City, holder of the lightweight championship of the eastern section of the A. A. U., United States, decisively won from Lockman of Lockman, also 135 pounds, in a fast bout last night before a good crowd in The Arena. The judges differed as to the winner and the award of Referee Tom McMahon gave the Oil City battler the fight.

Lockman's stable was impressive in the first part of the opening round when Robinson was forced to miss. Mark would jab then try to follow through with a right. The champion caught Lockman with a right to the jaw that drove Lockman, reeling from the center of the ring to the ropes.

At the bell Lockman was running and in the second chapter Smokey chased the Brownsville lightweight around the ring. Mark stood now and then, long enough to fire a left and then drift away like an evening shadow. In the middle of the round Smokey slipped down after Lockman had the best of the fighting, which was scientific.

Referee Stops Fight

After shaking hands in the third Robinson pled after the elusive Mark who kept backing away, firing as he went. He forced Lockman to the ropes and landed several good healthy socks to the chin. Lockman had considerable the best of the last round, which, added to his showing in the last part of the first, captured him the split decision.

Tommy Yarosz, Monaca, appeared impressive as he outpointed Willie Cook of Brownsville for two rounds, then won by a technical knockout in the third when Referee McMahon stopped the fight to save Cook from punishment. They are welterweights.

Johnny Como of Meadville, won the decision over Marion Klingensmith of Marionville, in three fast and hard rounds. It was a good fight. The writer believes Klingensmith was entitled to the decision.

Bodish Beats Phillips

Other results were as follow: Al Bodish of Pittsburgh won all three votes by beating Russ Phillips of Oil City, 135 pound class. Harry Slater of Oil City defeated Buck Chambers of West Pottsville by a split decision, 160 pound class. Carl Jones of Brownsville defeated Chuck Cody of Pittsburgh, all three votes; 130 pound class. Chuck Arkett of New Castle won by technical knockout over Hank Hanna of Pittsburgh in second round; 145 pound class.

Johnny Grimes of Monaca won all three votes by defeating Billy Reale of New Castle; 155 pound class.

The referee was Tom McMahon, and judges, George Mazza and Phil Greer. William Pazzone and Carl Cialella were the timekeepers.

Indiana Best Passers

Indiana was the conference's best passing eleven, gaining 663 yards in five games against Iowa's 602 yards in six games.

Defensively, the Buckeyes held their opponents to an average of 150 yards per game, bettering Northwestern's 175-yard average. And in rushing defense the Bucks were far in the van with an average of 101 yards. Ohio also was best in pass defense, limiting the opposition to 332 yards, a breath ahead of Northwestern with 324.

The champion Buckeyes also were the best punters of the conference, averaging 42.2 yards in this department, with Illinois the runner-up with an average of 40.6 yards.

Ohio was the most slippery fanged team, fumbling 24 times and losing the ball on fumbles eleven times. Illinois was the most alert eleven on fumbles, recovering the ball on 16 occasions.

Harmon High Scorer

Tommy Harmon, who wound up the year as the big ten's high scorer with a total of 81 points, placed Michigan in the van with Ohio for conversions. The Wolverines followed up 21 touchdowns with 18 conversions, while Ohio kicked the extra point 18 times after 22 touchdowns. Don Scott, Ohio quarter, matched Harmon's record of 10 points after touchdown.

Don Clawson, Northwestern's fine sophomore fullback, followed Harmon in the individual scoring with 33 points, and Ohio's Scott was third with 28 points. Four other players followed with 24 points each. They were Langhurst, Ohio, B. Smith, Minnesota, Jimmy Smith, Illinois, and Erwin Praske, end and Captain of Iowa. Runner-up in the standings to Ohio.

The conference eleven's proved themselves not strong on field goals, kicking only seven in 27 games. Ohio made good with two three-pointers, while Michigan, Purdue, Illinois, Minnesota and Indiana came through with one each.

Originator Of Basketball Game Called By Death

(International News Service)
LAWRENCE, Kans., Nov. 28.—Dr. James A. Naismith, inventor of basketball, died early today at the age of 78. His last illness started with a cerebral hemorrhage, followed by heart attacks.
Forty-eight years ago Dr. Naismith invented basketball at the Springfield, Mass. Y. M. C. A. to fill a need for winter sports. The equipment was a ball and two old peach baskets. The sport spread around the world and in 1936 was played at the Olympic games in Berlin, with Dr. Naismith in the audience.

BUTTER AND BACON WILL BE RATIONED IN GREAT BRITAIN

(International News Service)
LONDON, Nov. 28.—Rationing of butter and bacon will begin in Britain on January 8 of next year. Minister of Food W. S. Morrison announced to the House of Commons today.
Under present plans each person will be allowed four ounces of butter and four ounces of bacon a week.

The four-ounce level will remain in force until further notice, Morrison said. He appealed to consumers to restrict voluntarily their sugar purchases to one pound per head weekly.

Rev. Howard Loch Accepts Call To Evangelical Church

To Begin Pastorate In This City On Sunday, December
17, Members Learn

ELLWOOD CITY, Nov. 29.—Rev. Howard F. Loch has accepted a call extended by the Evangelical Reformed church of this city to the pastorate of the local church, which has been without a pastor since the departure of Rev. Milton A. May to a Hazleton church.

Rev. Loch is a graduate of Franklin and Marshall college and the Theological Seminary at Lancaster, Pa. For the past 11 years he has been pastor of the First Evangelical Reformed church of Pottsville, Pa., and before that was pastor of the Reformed church at Selma, Pa., in the Westmoreland Classis.

Mr. Loch is a graduate of the University of Pittsburgh and has gained wide experience in young people's work through teaching at the state Sunday school conferences at Spruce Creek.

Members of the local church are pleased to learn of his acceptance and await his coming with renewed interest and pleasure. With his wife and four children Rev. Loch will move to the parsonage in Eighth street on December 14, and will take up the church work on Sunday, Dec. 17.

Until his arrival in this city, services will be held as usual at the church, beginning with Sunday school at 9:45 a. m.

Following Lingering Illness

ELLWOOD CITY, Nov. 29.—Samuel Loboza, aged 65 years, of Quarry street, passed away at the local hospital this morning at 7:20 a. m., after an extended illness.

He had resided in this city for many years and was well known. He is survived by his wife, Mrs. Mary Loboza; two sons, Tony and George, of this city, and five daughters, Mrs. James Greco, Mrs. Alfred Gesso, Mrs. Mary Gabutti, this city; Miss Helen Loboza, at home, and Mrs. Nick DeAngelo, of Pittsburgh.

Funeral services will be held on Friday morning at 10 a. m., from the B. V. M. church in Fourth street. Rev. Fr. Vincent Galliano will officiate, with interment to be made in Locust Grove cemetery.

Methodist Class To Provide Flowers

ELLWOOD CITY, Nov. 28.—J. I. Porter hospitably opened his home, on the Ellwood-New Castle road, last evening, to members of the Men's Bible class of the First Methodist church, who gathered for the monthly session. Twenty-two members attended.

Jack Kimpel, president, conducted the meeting and directed a period of entertaining games and contests. It was agreed to buy flowers for the church every Sunday.

Dispensing with the December meeting, it was agreed to hold a special meeting at the church in January when ladies of the class will be special guests.

Rebekah Lodge Plans Dinner

ELLWOOD CITY, Nov. 28.—Thirty-five members of the Rebekah lodge gathered last night in the bank hall for the semi-monthly business meeting.

The degree team spent the evening practicing for an initiation of new members to take place in two weeks.

On Monday evening, December 11, the next meeting will be in the form of a Christmas party and gift exchange and will begin with a tureen dinner at 6 o'clock to be in charge of Mrs. William Travis.

OUIMET MEMBERS HAVE CARD SESSION

ELLWOOD CITY, Nov. 28.—Oui-met club members were hospitably entertained last evening by Mrs. Carl Schweinsburg at the home of Mrs. Robert Abraham, of Ellwood avenue, for the bi-weekly session.

Cards played at two tables held the attention of the guests with the attractive prizes going to Mrs. James Hoy, Mrs. Kenneth Bohlander and Mrs. Schweinsburg, who served a refreshing lunch.

The next meeting to be in the form of a tureen dinner and Christmas exchange will be held on Wednesday, December 13, at the home of Mrs. Kenneth Bohlander, of Wampum avenue.

Girl Scout Council Arranges Activities

Chorus To Sing Christmas
Carols From City Building
During Holidays

ELLWOOD CITY, Nov. 28.—With president, Mrs. Max Groden in charge, members of the Girl Scout Council gathered last evening in the city building scout room for the November business meeting.

The girl scout chorus is practicing Christmas carols to be sung on the Saturday evening before Christmas on the lawn of the city building. A thirty minutes transcription of the carols will be made and will be recorded throughout the downtown streets during the holiday shopping season.

Scouts are studying customs of Italy, France, Hungary, Switzerland and Japan according to the international program chairman.

There will be no scout rally during the month of December with the next one arranged for the second Monday, of January. The leadership class has been postponed until the third Monday of January and will be held at the Barlow home in Franklin avenue with Mrs. Paul Cartwright, as co-hostess.

The Nightingale troop made clever favors for hospital patients for the Thanksgiving season. Unless there is important business, the Council will not meet again until the fourth Monday in January.

Mrs. Carl McKenna Is Guild Hostess

ELLWOOD CITY, Nov. 28.—Mrs. Carl McKenna and Miss Elizabeth Kramer, graciously entertained the members of the World Wide Guild of the Providence Baptist church for a postponed meeting last evening at the former's home, on the Ellwood-Zellenople road. Sixteen members participated.

Opening devotions were led by Mrs. Clarence Saftred after which a chapter of the home study book, "Right Here at Home" was reviewed by Miss Lillian Jones.

Games and contests followed the business meeting with the nice prizes going to Mrs. William Fleeson and Mrs. William Hazen. The hostesses served a dainty lunch.

On Monday evening, December 11 the annual Christmas party will be held at the home of Mrs. J. R. Routledge, of North Sewickley, with Mrs. Clarence Saftred and Mrs. Ray Householder, as hostesses.

Beta Chapter Will Fete College Girls

ELLWOOD CITY, Nov. 28.—Last evening, nineteen members of the Beta chapter of the Graduate Sorority gathered in the Phalanx club rooms for the regular meeting. The meeting was devoted to a discussion of various phases of beauty culture.

During the meeting, plans were made to have a party for the girls that will be home from college during the holidays and a committee of three, Miss Shirley Price, Miss Bettie Wilson and Miss Clara Irwin, was named to make the arrangements.

Monday, December 11, marks the date of the next meeting.

LILYVILLE CHURCH OF GOD

ELLWOOD CITY, Nov. 28.—Activities for the week include:
Tuesday, the Willing Workers club will be entertained at the home of Rev. and Mrs. L. A. Lightfritz, of North Sewickley.
Wednesday, Edwin Koch will lead the weekly Bible study class.
Thursday, the Mary Ruth Missionary society will gather at the home of Mrs. Ferd Kaufman, of Fombell, for an all-day meeting. In the evening, a community singing will be held at the church under the direction of Mrs. L. A. Lightfritz.

Wurtemberg P. T. A. Has Spelling Bee

Finalists To Compete With
Seventh, Eighth Grade
Winners At Next Meeting

ELLWOOD CITY, Nov. 28.—Under the direction of Harold Burns, members of the Wurtemberg Parent-Teacher association at their November meeting last night at the Wurtemberg school enjoyed an old-fashioned spelling bee during the program hour.

At the next meeting the six finalists will compete with the six winners in the seventh and eighth grades. There was a very large attendance of members.

Opening devotions were led by Mrs. Clifford Gibbons, and the business meeting was in charge of Mrs. Wilbur Steffer, with a most satisfactory treasurer's report being given by Mrs. Lloyd Hamill. It was decided to furnish and equip a room of the school to be used for the care of pupils who might become ill.

Late in December the seventh and eighth grades will present a Christmas entertainment with the free-will offering to be used to buy stage equipment.

The membership committee, Mrs. Eva Fox, Mrs. Helen Hines and Ralph Newton, reported a number of new members, with the drive to be continued.

As the final feature tempting refreshments were served by Mrs. Jack Kimpel, Mrs. Mary French and Mrs. W. H. Newton.

The next regular meeting will take place the last Monday of January.

Card Party Series Concluded Monday

ELLWOOD CITY, Nov. 28.—The last in a series of most successful card parties took place last evening in the Sixth street firemen's hall under the auspices of the Firemen's Auxiliary.

Last night's awards went to Mrs. Reed Hall, Mrs. Mary Fontana, William Kay and T. V. Barnes, for 500; Mrs. J. E. Stoughton, Mrs. Beulah Peers, J. M. Stoughton and R. L. White, for bridge; and Mrs. Lewis Young and Mrs. Paul Tirlea, for bingo.

Grand awards were presented as follows: Mrs. Reed Hall and William Kay, for 500; Mrs. J. E. Stoughton, for bridge; and Mrs. Lewis Young, for bingo.

Mrs. Lola Wolfe was in charge of the arrangements and Mrs. Carl Kingston and a committee served appetizing refreshments.
A regular meeting of the Auxiliary will be held next Monday night.

Lutheran Board Meets On Monday

ELLWOOD CITY, Nov. 28.—For their monthly meeting members of the Sunday school board of the Trinity Lutheran church assembled last night in the church, with a good attendance of members.

Miss Nell Richards led the devotional service and the discussion period concerned the education value of tracts. Assistant Superintendent Lewis Beisecker conducted the business meeting, with satisfactory reports being given by various members of the board.

SONS OF LEGION PLAN BASKETBALL LEAGUE OPENING

ELLWOOD CITY, Nov. 28.—Plans for taking part in the Junior Basketball league being arranged by the Shelby Social club and the Beaver County league occupied members of the Sons of Legion when they held their bi-weekly meeting last evening in the Sixth street hall.

Bill Wilson conducted the meeting and arrangements were made to stress the importance of the membership drive in the coming weeks.

A social hour was enjoyed with tempting refreshments being served by a committee. Another meeting will be held on Monday, December 11.

HOSPITAL NOTES

ELLWOOD CITY, Nov. 28.—Admitted: John Wright, Zellenople; and Mrs. Milford Fox, North Sewickley.

Discharged: Mrs. Jefferson Craig, Orchard avenue; and Mrs. Alfred Minnett, route 2.

LEGAL NOTICES

Sheriff Sued

By virtue of a writ issued out of the Court of Common Pleas of Mercer county, Pa., and to me directed, there will be exposed to sale by public vendue or entry in Court (room No. 2 in the Court House at Mercer, Pa.) on Saturday, November 25, 1939, at the hour of 10 A. M., the following described real estate:

Alias: Lev. Pa. No. 52 December Term, 1939.

Wm. McElwaine, Jr., Plaintiff's Attorney.

November 6, 1939. Levied upon the following:

All the right, title, interest and claim of the defendant, Esther Marie Biddle, Taylor and Robert Wallace Biddle, of, in, and to all that place or parcel of and situate partly in Shouango Township, Mercer County, Pennsylvania, and partly in Pulaski Township, Lawrence County, Pennsylvania, containing about 175 acres, five (75) acres, the larger portion of which is in said Shouango Township, Mercer county, Pennsylvania.

On the North by other lands of the said George R. Biddle and lands of Mrs. J. T. Barrett, on the East by lands of Ben Z. Byler, on the South by lands of Ben Z. Byler, lands of Joseph D. Mast and lands of Robert C. Skellion, on the West by public road and other lands of George R. Biddle. First above mentioned, containing 175 acres, more or less, and comprising two pieces of land, one of which was conveyed to the said George R. Biddle by Lucinda B. Mitchell and her husband, died, recorded in Lawrence County in Deed Book 157, page 442, the other was conveyed to the said George R. Biddle by a deed from his father, Robert C. Skellion, recorded in Mercer County in Deed Book V, Vol. 8, page 22.

Improvements: None.

Seized and taken in execution as the property of the defendant at the suit of James H. Biddle.

Terms of Sale—

The following must be complied with when the property is stricken down:

1. When the plaintiff or other lien creditor becomes the purchaser, the cost of the writ must be paid and the lists of liens, including mortgage, searches on the property, sold, together with such lien creditor's receipts for the amount of the proceeds of the sale of such portion thereof as he may claim, must be furnished to the sheriff.

2. All bids must be paid in full.

3. All sales not sold, immediately will be continued until 10:00 A. M. on Saturday following the day of sale, which time a property not settled for will be again put up and sold at the expense and risk of the person to whom first sold.

C. G. SCOWDEN,
Sheriff of Mercer County.

Rally Develops In Stock Market

U. S. Steel And Other Steel Stocks Show Gains During Morning

By LESLIE GOULD
International News Service
Financial Writer

NEW YORK, Nov. 28.—The stock market rallied today under the lead of steel, with several leaders advancing a point or more. Progress was in the face of continued dullness, stocks moving ahead easily on light volume.

U. S. Steel was the individual feature, climbing almost two points. Bethlehem and Crucible each were up more than a point, while Youngstown Sheet Tube did nearly as well.

Except for a few laggards at the opening, stocks were higher throughout the forenoon, reaching their best levels in the second hour.

Motors, aviation and building shares also were in the van of the recovery. U. S. Gypsum stood out with a climb of 3 points. Chrysler ran up more than a point and General Motors gained half as much.

Douglas was up a point and United Aircraft slightly less, but Boeing lost a point. Eastman Kodak was another stock to advance a point.

Fair sized gains were chalked up by Johns-Manville, Union Carbide, Santa Fe, N. Y. Central, International Harvester, Texas Corp., American Smelting, Anaconda, U. S. Rubber, Goodyear and Montgomery Ward.

Sears Roebuck and American Can lagged.

Britain's King And Queen See Play Satirizing Hitler

(International News Service)

LONDON, Nov. 28.—The grim business of war was shelved temporarily by King George VI and Queen Elizabeth who attended a humorous revue "Black Velvet," that satirized the enemy and British government agencies alike and today assumed the stature of a full-fledged hit.

Attending the show with the Duke and Duchess of Gloucester and the Duke and Duchess of Kent, their majesties rocked with laughter at wise cracks ridiculing Chancellor Hitler and the British Ministry of Information.

While the audience at the London Hippodrome roared and chuckled, the king and queen got their biggest laugh during a ministry of information skit in which a character impersonating Hitler asked a comedian impersonating the ministry of information for a job.

"I have painted and I have been an interior decorator," said the bogus "Hitler."

"I am also a bit of a fiction writer—haven't you read 'Mein Kampf'?"

The king slapped his sides and the queen wiped tears of hilarity from her eyes at such wise-cracks as:

"My patience is exhausted."

German officials and newspapers frequently have indicated that the Reich's patience was becoming "exhausted."

The king and queen also tremendously enjoyed jibes at the information ministry like the refusal of a "censor" to pass the world war song, "It's A Long Way To Tipperary," on grounds that it would convey information to the enemy.

May Make Effort To Keep Effective 1936 Assessments

Mayor McGrath Says Move Would Be Favored If It Can Be Legally Done

Some members of city council, it was reported today are in favor of tossing out the proposed 1940-1942 triennial assessment, if such legislation can be done and making effective the assessment which has been in effect since 1936.

Mayor Charles E. McGrath is in favor of this plan, providing there is a decrease in tax millage. The present rate is 11 1/2 mills.

Today the mayor said he believes that economies can be had in several of the city departments.

He said he believes it possible to perform garbage service at a less cost than at present.

During the paving program almost three score streets have been paved, the mayor stated, so that it should cost less in the future to maintain streets.

During Monday's councilmanic session, councilmen decided to ask for bids letting the garbage service to a private contractor, providing the city can save money.

In speaking of the triennial assessment the mayor stated that council has found what they believe are discrepancies. What they will do concerning the reported discrepancies has not been stated.

Holiday Seals To Reach Homes In Area Friday

War On Tuberculosis To Be Renewed In County During December

With everything now almost in readiness the Anti-Tuberculosis Christmas Seals, will be placed in the mails the latter part of this week, destined to reach the many homes in Lawrence county on Friday morning, December 1.

For several weeks, groups of willing workers from church and social organizations in the district have reported to the office of the Lawrence County Tuberculosis society in the Lawrence Savings and Trust Company Building, to prepare the seals and the letters that will bring the message of appeal from the Tuberculosis society. Taking into consideration the great work that the few cents spent for the stamps will do, no person who can possibly secure these stickers should fail to do so.

This Christmas season one of the finest resolutions that could be made would be to mail no letter—send no package unless it is decorated with the Christmas symbol that saves lives. Adopt the slogan, "Help Others To Health", and do your part so that your health may also be safeguarded. Buy Christmas Seals.

The seal sale this year is being sponsored by members of the Sub-Junior Women's club, headed by Burden John, the president. F. A. Hoyer is president of the Lawrence County Tuberculosis Society.

FISH FRY

The annual fish fry of the Westfield Sunday school classes of Rev. E. A. Shoemaker, Mrs. Anna Wallace and Mrs. Harry Emery was held in the Westfield Grange hall Friday evening. Supper was served to one hundred and forty people. After the supper was over the classes assembled in the Grange auditorium and enjoyed a social time. The supper was in charge of a committee from each class.
